Welcome

What it is, who it suits, its grades and the ten things to know first

2.8

GPA, above 61 of the 79 other event ticketing platforms we grade

AdmitONE is an event ticketing platform that pairs self-serve ticket sales with a local events marketplace. It also offers managed services in which its team builds tickets and can staff box offices. It is run by The Admit One Corporation, which describes itself as a Canadian company.

To get you started, here are 8 things to know about Admit One, taken from its own pages and our grades.

>
> You build event pages and connect payments.
>
> From our grade for ease of use

1 Best for self-serve ticketing with optional managed help

That fee comes from a comparison page, not a pricing page, and the managed PoweredBy service has no public price.

2 It is free

Admit One has no paid plan at all. Creating events is free; AdmitONE takes a percentage of each ticket sale, and free events carry no fees.

3 It runs on 3 platforms

Web, iOS and Android.

4 Self-serve ticketing

Unlimited ticket types, custom event pages, complimentary tickets and timed-entry tickets.

5 Organizer app

A free mobile app for iOS and Android scans and validates attendees.

6 Marketing tools

Promo codes, referral links, social pixel tracking and sales-by-location maps.

7 A 2.8 GPA, above 61 of 79

That is against the other event ticketing platforms we grade, on value, the free plan, features, ease of use and platforms.

8 Keep it

Admit One is free, so making your own would save you nothing.

The report card

Best for self-serve ticketing with optional managed help

Admit One is free to set up, with fees from 1.89% + 59 cents per ticket and no fee on free events. That fee comes from a comparison page, not a pricing page, and the managed PoweredBy service has no public price.

TOOLGPA REPORT CARD	Admit One	Graded Nov 13, 2026

SUBJECT	GRADE	COMMENT
Value for money	B	Fees start at 1.89% + 59 cents per ticket, with no monthly fee, and can be passed to buyers. That sits in the cheaper quarter.
Free plan and trial	B	Creating events is free and free events carry no fees, which one person could live on.
Features	B	Ticket types, timed entry, promo codes, organizer app, marketplace listing and a box office API. No gap shows in the core job.
Ease of use	C	No store rating on record. You build event pages and connect payments.
Platforms and integrations	B	Web with iOS and Android organizer apps, and an API for point-of-sale systems.
Grade point average		Good, out of 4.0 2.8

An A is worth 4 points, a B 3, a C 2, a D 1 and an F nothing. The GPA is the average of the five.

Who Admit One is for

- ✓ Fits if you run mid-sized venues or festivals
- ✓ Works for Canadian charities and galas

Who it is not for

- ✕ Watch out: the 1.89% + 59 cents figure comes from a comparison page, and the exact fee is set when you create an event
- ✕ Not for you if you want managed help priced up front, as PoweredBy is arranged through a demo
- ✕ Watch out: only Visa, American Express and Mastercard are listed for card payments
- ✕ Tight if you expect the charity fee cover to last, as it is described as limited-time

Good to know

Good for

- ✓ Mid-sized venues and festivals
- ✓ Canadian charities and galas
- ✓ Organizers who want hands-on setup help

Worth knowing

- ⓘ The $0.59 and 1.89% figures come from a comparison page; the exact fee is calculated when an event is created.
- ⓘ Managed PoweredBy service and custom fees are arranged through a demo, with no public price.
- ⓘ A limited-time charity program covers ticketing fees for eligible Canadian charities and nonprofits.
- ⓘ Card payments accepted are Visa, American Express and Mastercard, per its FAQ.

Where it stands

Its grades against its category, and whether to keep it or make your own

61/79

Other event ticketing platforms it is graded above

Admit One's GPA of 2.8 is higher than 61 of the 79 other event ticketing platforms we grade, and level with 8.

It stands best on value for money (B, above 56 of 79) and worst on ease of use (C, above 4).

Admit One has no paid plan.

On features, ease of use and platforms it scores 2.7 out of 4, and no tool on the category's chart scores higher without costing more.

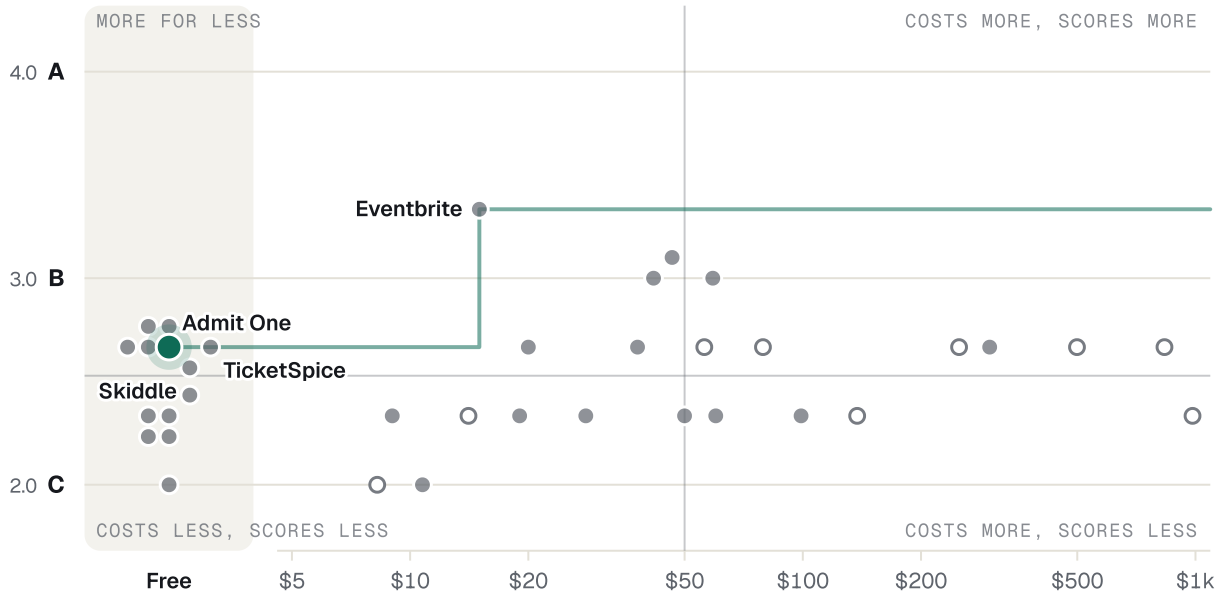

Each grade against the category

Every bar is all 80 event ticketing platforms we grade, cut by the letter each got. Admit One's own letter is outlined.

B	Value for money	B 21 · C 48 · D 8	Above 56 of 79
B	Free plan and trial	A 12 · B 25 · C 9 · F 33	Above 43 of 79
B	Features	B 49 · C 30	Above 30 of 79
C	Ease of use	C 72	Above 4 of 79
B	Platforms and integrations	B 58 · C 20	Above 20 of 79

Price against what you get

Each dot is one of 36 event ticketing platforms. Further left costs less; higher up scores better on features, ease of use and platforms. Admit One is the marked dot.

What paid plans start at, a month (each step along is roughly double)

Keep it, or make your own?

Whether this is something you could build for yourself with an AI app builder, and what you would give up.

Keep it

Admit One is free, so making your own would save you nothing.

And it is not the kind of software a weekend replaces. It is one of the better ones too: its GPA of 2.8 is higher than 61 of the 79 other event ticketing platforms we grade.

What you could make

- QR codes and reports: an app builder makes these well.

What you could not

- Selling tickets and checking them at the door.

- ✕ A real app for iOS and Android. Something home-made would be a web page.
- ✕ The depth: we grade its features B, which means it covers the whole job.

What this rests on. Admit One's listing: what it does, where it runs, what it plugs into and what it costs. It is a judgement about the kind of software this is. We have not built a replacement for it, and making your own means looking after it too. How we decide, and every tool's verdict.

Where this guide comes from

The prices, plans, platforms and features were read from Admit One's own pages on Nov 13, 2026, and the grades were given on Nov 13, 2026. Graded from this listing, whose facts were read from Admit One's own pages on 13 November 2026. Not based on using the product, and shorter than our full reviews. The home page loaded but gave no pricing, so the fee figure could not be re-read there.

Every tool we list gets five grades, A to F, each with its reason, and a GPA that averages them. How each is decided is at toolgpa.com/grades. This guide is ToolGPA's own work; it is not made, paid for or approved by The Admit One Corporation. Prices change, so check admitone.com before you buy.
