Where it stands

Its grades against its category, and whether to keep it or make your own

9/60

Other webinar and live streaming tools it is graded above

Airmeet's GPA of 1.8 is higher than 9 of the 60 other webinar and live streaming tools we grade, and level with 16.

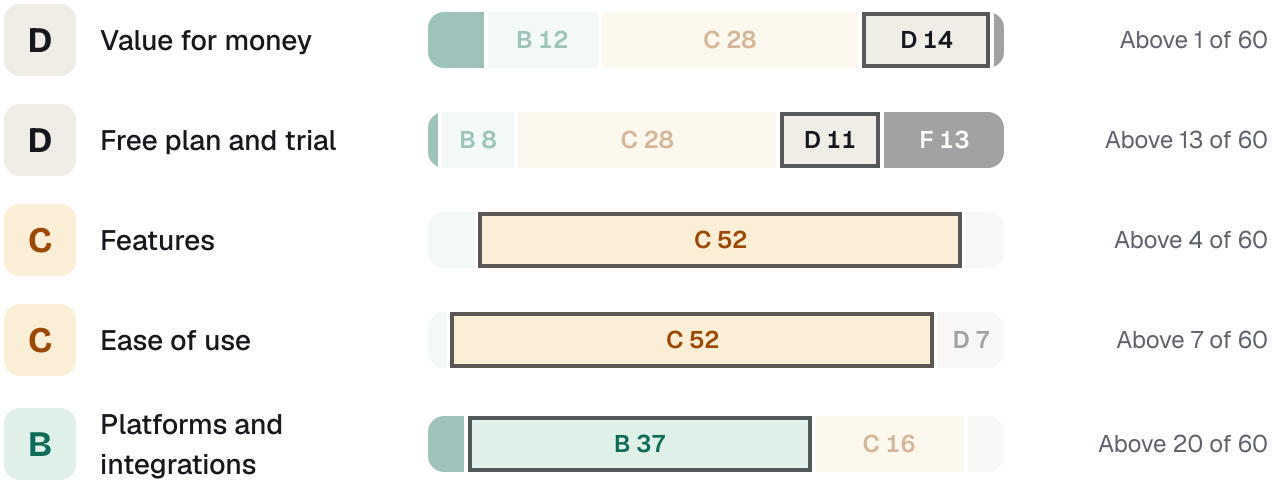

It stands best on platforms and integrations (B, above 20 of 60) and worst on value for money (D, above 1).

Its paid plans start at $167 a month, against a middle price of $47 for the category: 39 of the 45 others that charge start lower.

On features, ease of use and platforms it scores 2.3 out of 4. 6 tools score higher and cost less.

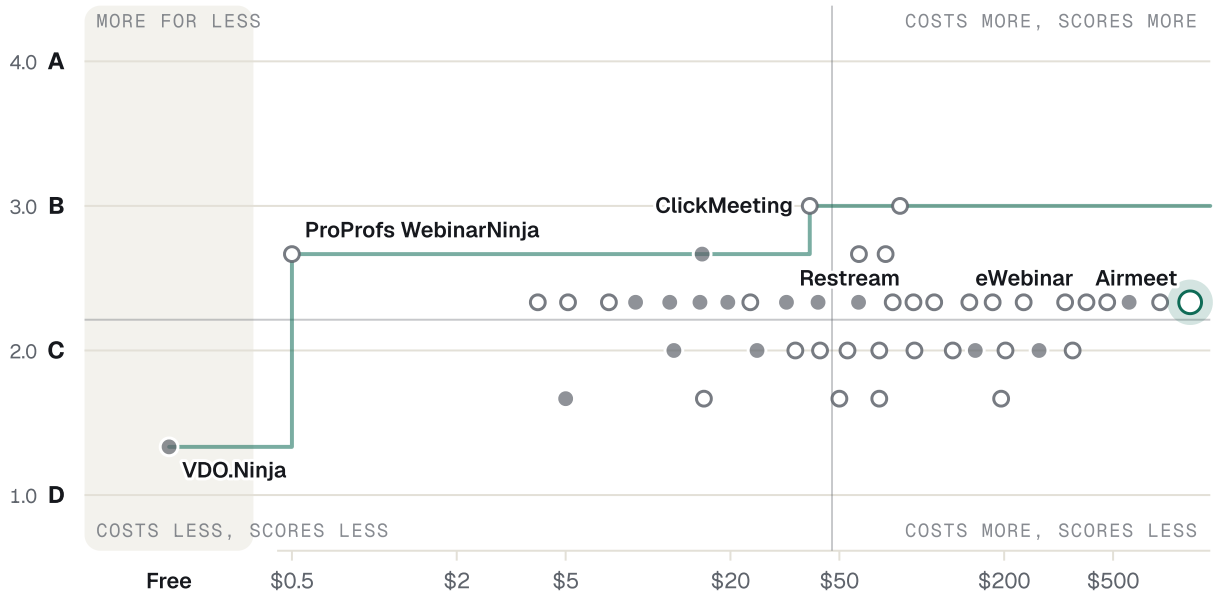

Each grade against the category

Every bar is all 61 webinar and live streaming tools we grade, cut by the letter each got. Airmeet's own letter is outlined.

Price against what you get

Each dot is one of 47 webinar and live streaming tools. Further left costs less; higher up scores better on features, ease of use and platforms. Airmeet is the marked dot.

What paid plans start at, a month (each step along is roughly double)

Keep it, or make your own?

Whether this is something you could build for yourself with an AI app builder, and what you would give up.

Keep it

To replace Airmeet you would be making live video to hundreds of people at once. That is not a weekend's work, with an AI app builder or without one.

That makes this kind of software worth paying for, not this one in particular: 35 of the 60 other webinar and live streaming tools grade higher. It costs $2,004 a year.

What you could make

- Reports: an app builder makes this well.

What you could not

- Live video to hundreds of people at once.

- Selling tickets and checking them at the door.
- A real app for iOS and Android. Something home-made would be a web page.
- AI features, unless you pay a model provider for each request yourself.

What this rests on. Airmeet's listing: what it does, where it runs, what it plugs into and what it costs. It is a judgement about the kind of software this is. We have not built a replacement for it, and making your own means looking after it too. How we decide, and every tool's verdict.
