Who BigScoots is for

- ✓ Fits if you run a WordPress site and want the host to handle migrations and upkeep
- ✓ Works for sites with steady traffic that fits a visitor tier

Who it is not for

- ✕ Pricey if you run one small site, at $29.17 a month for 1 site
- ✕ Tight if your traffic grows, because plans are capped by monthly visitors
- ✕ Skip it if you want to try first, as there is no free plan or trial listed
- ✕ Watch out: Essential 75 uses a CDN, and Boost starts at Essential 125
- ✕ Watch out: monthly billing is higher on every plan, with annual shown as two months free

Good to know

Good for

- ✓ WordPress site owners who want a host to handle migration and support
- ✓ Content sites with steady traffic that fits a visitor-based plan

Worth knowing

- ⓘ Plans are capped by monthly visitors, so traffic growth can push a site into a pricier tier.
- ⓘ Essential 75 uses a CDN rather than Boost; Boost by BigScoots starts with Essential 125.
- ⓘ Annual billing is shown as two months free; the monthly price is higher on every plan.
- ⓘ Shared hosting, VPS and dedicated servers have their own pricing, not covered by these plans.

Keep it, or make your own?

Whether this is something you could build for yourself with an AI app builder, and what you would give up.

Keep it

To replace BigScoots you would be making servers kept running, patched and backed up for you. That is not a weekend's work, with an AI app builder or without one.

That makes this kind of software worth paying for, not this one in particular: 94 of the 122 other web hosts grade higher. It costs $350.04 a year.

What you could not

- ✕ Servers kept running, patched and backed up for you.
- ✕ Speed tests run from real browsers on a schedule.

What this rests on. BigScoots's listing: what it does, where it runs, what it plugs into and what it costs. It is a judgement about the kind of software this is. We have not built a replacement for it, and making your own means looking after it too. How we decide, and every tool's verdict.
