Welcome

What it is, who it suits, its grades and the ten things to know first

2.0

GPA, above 6 of the 60 other browsers we grade

Blisk is a desktop browser for web developers and QA teams. It shows a site on several emulated phones, tablets and desktops side by side, with synced scrolling and URLs, auto-refresh and error notifications. A paid Premium license unlocks unlimited use of its features.

To get you started, here are 9 things to know about Blisk, taken from its own pages and our grades.

> A developer browser where you choose devices, build device sets and set up auto-refresh files.
> From our grade for ease of use

1 Best for testing a site on many devices at once

Blisk is a desktop browser that shows a site on several emulated phones and tablets side by side, with synced scrolling and error notices.

2 Paid plans start at $11.99 a month

As its pricing page puts it: $11.99 per month, billing basis not confirmed.

3 There is a free plan

A free plan exists, and the pricing FAQ mentions a free daily trial; its limits were not readable.

4 It runs on 3 platforms

Windows, macOS and Linux.

5 100 built-in devices

Phones, tablets, laptops and desktops from vendors such as Apple, Google, Samsung, LG and Dell, usable alone or side by side.

6 URL and scroll sync

Devices follow each other by URL and scroll position.

7 Page auto-refresh

Pages reload when you save source files, with the file types and locations you choose.

8 A 2.0 GPA, above 6 of 60

That is against the other browsers we grade, on value, the free plan, features, ease of use and platforms.

9 Keep it

To replace Blisk you would be making a web browser. That is not a weekend's work, with an AI app builder or without one.

Best for testing a site on many devices at once

Blisk is a desktop browser that shows a site on several emulated phones and tablets side by side, with synced scrolling and error notices. Premium is $11.99 a user a month, and the free limits and billing basis were not readable.

TOOLGPA REPORT CARD — Blisk — Graded Nov 13, 2026

SUBJECT	GRADE	COMMENT
Value for money	C	$11.99 per user a month, with the billing basis unclear, sits between this category's $10 middle and its $19.99 dearer quarter.
Free plan and trial	C	The home page says a free trial needs no credit card, and the pricing FAQ mentions a free plan, but its limits were not readable.
Features	C	100 built-in devices, synced URL and scroll, auto-refresh and an error notifier. It does the testing job, but only on emulated devices.
Ease of use	C	No rating on record. A developer browser where you choose devices, build device sets and set up auto-refresh files.
Platforms and integrations	C	Windows, macOS and Linux desktop only, with no integrations listed.

Grade point average — Fair, out of 4.0 2.0

An A is worth 4 points, a B 3, a C 2, a D 1 and an F nothing. The GPA is the average of the five.

Who Blisk is for

- ✓ Fits if you test one page on many phone and tablet sizes at once
- ✓ Makes sense if a QA team needs an admin panel for licenses

Who it is not for

- ✗ Skip it if you need to know the free limits up front, because they were not readable
- ✗ Not for you if you need real devices: the screens are emulated
- ✗ Pricey if you are a team of ten: $11.99 a user a month, and 51 or more users are quoted by sales
- ✗ Watch out: the pricing page text did not show if $11.99 is monthly or yearly billing
- ✗ Watch out: the pricing page we were pointed to returned a 404 error

Good to know

Good for

- ✓ Front-end developers checking responsive layouts
- ✓ QA engineers testing across many devices at once
- ✓ Teams that want to share device sets and screenshots

Worth knowing

- ⓘ Premium is needed for unlimited use; free-plan limits were not readable from the pricing page text.
- ⓘ The pricing page has Monthly and Yearly billing options, and the text we read did not show which one the displayed $11.99 belongs to.
- ⓘ The pricing page text lists only one 1-user price, and team licenses are managed through an admin panel.
- ⓘ Corporate licenses with 51+ users are by quote, and the page says they are billed annually.

PART 04 · STANDING

Where it stands

Its grades against its category, and whether to keep it or make your own

6/60

Other browsers it is graded above

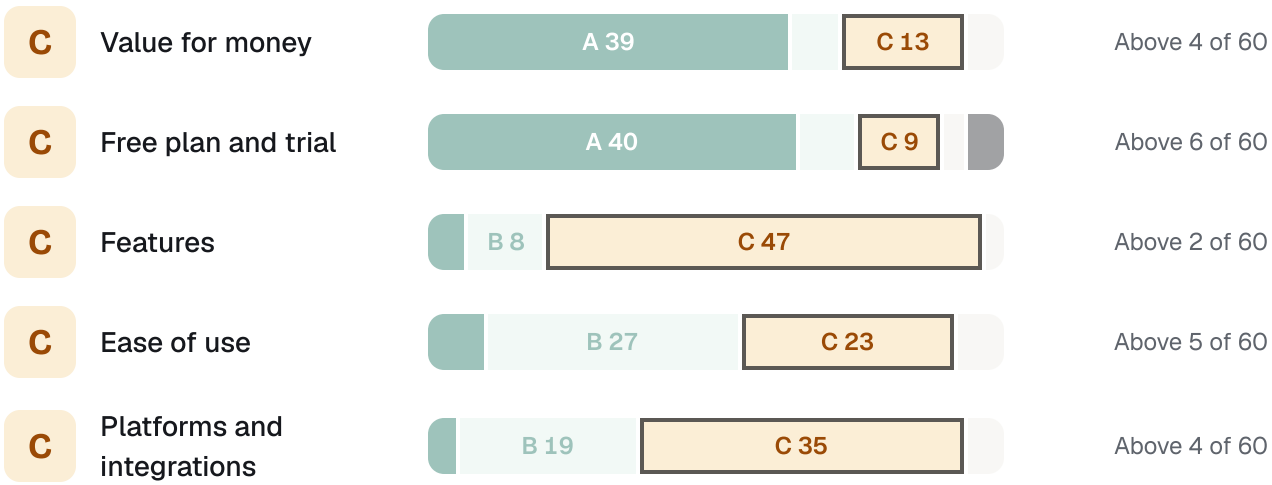

Blisk's GPA of 2.0 is higher than 6 of the 60 other browsers we grade, and level with 5.

Its paid plans start at $11.99 a month, against a middle price of $9.50 for the category: 11 of the 19 others that charge start lower.

On features, ease of use and platforms it scores 2.0 out of 4. 31 tools score higher and cost less.

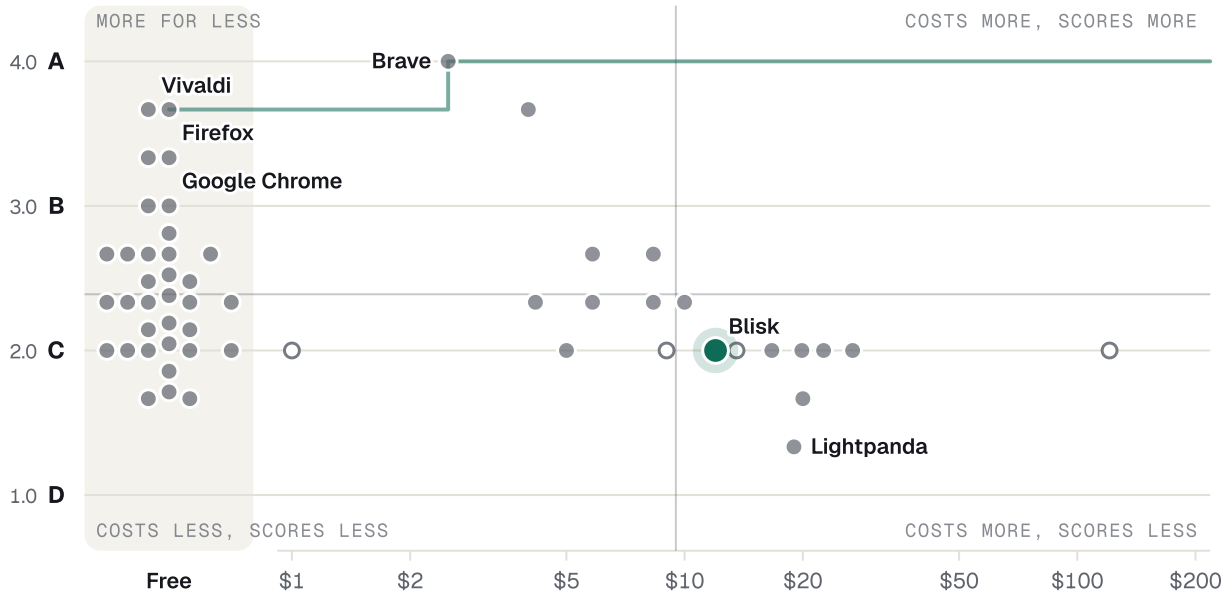

Each grade against the category

Every bar is all 61 browsers we grade, cut by the letter each got. Blisk's own letter is outlined.

Price against what you get

Each dot is one of 54 browsers. Further left costs less; higher up scores better on features, ease of use and platforms. Blisk is the marked dot.

What paid plans start at, a month (each step along is roughly double) ⍰

Keep it, or make your own?

Whether this is something you could build for yourself with an AI app builder, and what you would give up.

Keep it

To replace Blisk you would be making a web browser. That is not a weekend's work, with an AI app builder or without one.

That makes this kind of software worth paying for, not this one in particular: 49 of the 60 other browsers grade higher. It costs $143.88 a year.

What you could not

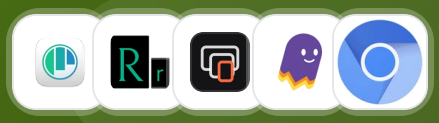

- ✕ A web browser.
- ✕ Capture tools hooked into the operating system.
- ✕ Recording the screen with its sound, and somewhere to keep the video.

- Apps for macOS, Windows and Linux that stay in step with each other.

What this rests on. Blisk's listing: what it does, where it runs, what it plugs into and what it costs. It is a judgement about the kind of software this is. We have not built a replacement for it, and making your own means looking after it too. How we decide, and every tool's verdict.

Where this guide comes from

The prices, plans, platforms and features were read from Blisk's own pages on Nov 13, 2026, and the grades were given on Nov 13, 2026. Graded from this listing, whose facts were read from Blisk's own pages on 13 November 2026; the pricing page at app.blisk.io/pricing returned a 404 error, so the price was not re-checked and the home page was read instead. Not based on using the product, and shorter than our full reviews.

Every tool we list gets five grades, A to F, each with its reason, and a GPA that averages them. How each is decided is at toolgpa.com/grades. This guide is ToolGPA's own work; it is not made, paid for or approved by Blisk. Prices change, so check blisk.io before you buy.
