Welcome

What it is, who it suits, its grades and the ten things to know first

2.2

GPA, above 12 of the 37 other e-signature and proposal tools we grade

DocHub is a browser-based PDF editor that also handles signing. You can fill in and sign documents yourself, send sign requests, and reuse templates and envelopes. A free plan exists with a shared monthly limit, and paid plans lift that limit and add AI tools, bulk send and in-person signing.

To get you started, here are 8 things to know about DocHub, taken from its own pages and our grades.

> Plan on paying if you sign more than a few things a month.
> From our report card of DocHub

1 Best for editing and signing PDFs in a browser

DocHub edits PDF text, signs documents and sends sign requests from a browser, with iOS and Android apps.

2 There is a free plan

Core features including editing existing PDF text, self-signing, sign requests, templates and envelopes share a limit of 3 uses a month.

3 It runs on 3 platforms

Web, iOS and Android.

4 PDF editing

Edit existing text in PDFs, add text, draw and highlight. Paid plans add advanced fillable fields and unlimited editing.

5 Self signing

Sign your own documents. Self signing is limited on the free plan and unlimited on paid plans.

6 Sign requests and envelopes

Send documents to others for signature, singly or in envelopes. Unlimited sign requests and envelopes start on the Pro plan.

7 A 2.2 GPA, above 12 of 37

That is against the other e-signature and proposal tools we grade, on value, the free plan, features, ease of use and platforms.

8 Keep it

The plain part of DocHub you could make: documents and templates. What surrounds it you could not. The 4 things listed below take a company, not a weekend.

The report card

Best for editing and signing PDFs in a browser

DocHub edits PDF text, signs documents and sends sign requests from a browser, with iOS and Android apps. The free plan gives you 3 uses a month shared across everything, and we couldn't pin down its paid prices because they change between page loads. Plan on paying if you sign more than a few things a month.

TOOLGPA REPORT CARD	DocHub	Graded Nov 12, 2026
SUBJECT	GRADE	COMMENT
Value for money	C	The listing couldn't confirm prices: the page loads them with JavaScript and they showed in different currencies and billing bases on different reads. No price is on record, so this sits in the middle.
Free plan and trial	C	A free plan with editing, self-signing, sign requests and templates, but all of it shares 3 uses a month. A single working week would use that up.
Features	C	PDF editing, self-signing, sign requests, envelopes, templates, AI tools, and bulk send and in-person signing. Gaps: unlimited sign requests, bulk send and in-person signing need Pro, and the listing records no API.
Ease of use	C	No store rating on record. It runs in a browser with apps on iOS and Android, and you build your own templates and folders.
Platforms and integrations	B	Web plus iOS and Android apps. No desktop app and no integrations or API are listed.
Grade point average		Fair, out of 4.0 2.2

An A is worth 4 points, a B 3, a C 2, a D 1 and an F nothing. The GPA is the average of the five.

Who DocHub is for

- ✓ Fits if you mostly edit PDFs and sign now and then, a few times a month
- ✓ Works for people who want signing and PDF editing in the same browser tab

Who it is not for

- ✗ Tight if you stay free: 3 uses a month, shared by editing, signing and sending
- ✗ Skip it if you send sign requests regularly, as unlimited requests need Pro
- ✗ Watch out: the listing couldn't confirm paid prices, and the page shows different currencies on different reads
- ✗ Watch out: the free trial isn't offered in some regions, and the Site License has no published price

Good to know

Good for

- ✓ Individuals who sign or fill in a few PDFs a month
- ✓ Freelancers and small teams that want PDF editing and signing in one tool
- ✓ Organizations that need a site license with SSO

Worth knowing

- ⓘ Prices could not be confirmed: the page loads them with JavaScript, and they appeared in different currencies and billing bases between reads.
- ⓘ On the free plan, all core features share a monthly limit of 3 uses.
- ⓘ Basic limits sending sign requests and envelopes to 3 uses a month; unlimited sign requests need Pro.
- ⓘ The Site License for enterprises is sold through sales with no published price.

PART 04 · STANDING

Where it stands

Its grades against its category, and whether to keep it or make your own

12/37

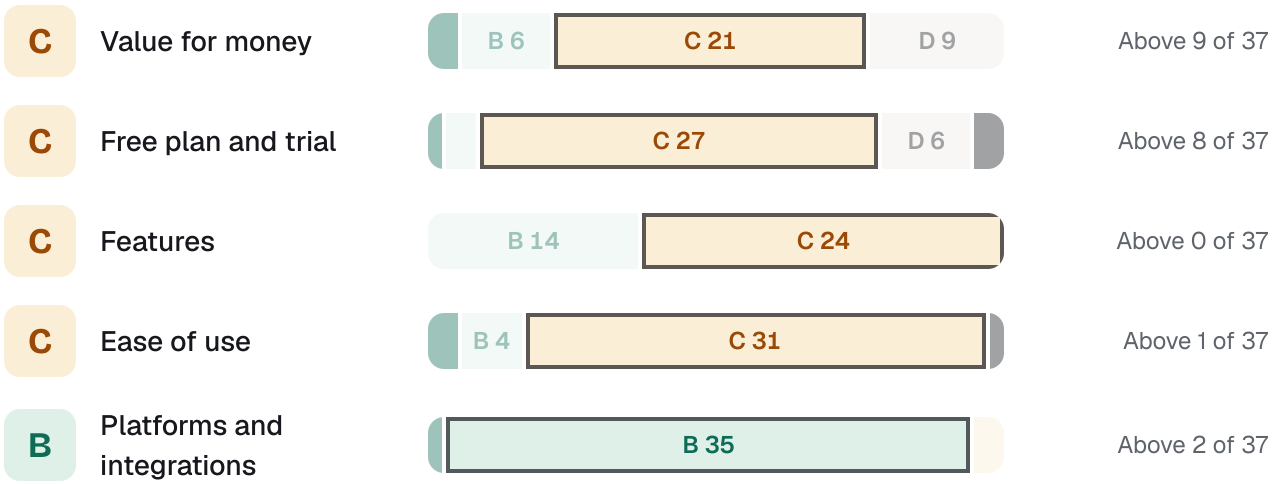

Other e-signature and proposal tools it is graded above

DocHub's GPA of 2.2 is higher than 12 of the 37 other e-signature and proposal tools we grade, and level with 8.

It stands best on platforms and integrations (B, above 2 of 37) and worst on features (C, above 0).

Each grade against the category

Every bar is all 38 e-signature and proposal tools we grade, cut by the letter each got. DocHub's own letter is outlined.

Keep it, or make your own?

Whether this is something you could build for yourself with an AI app builder, and what you would give up.

Keep it

The plain part of DocHub you could make: documents and templates. What surrounds it you could not. The 4 things listed below take a company, not a weekend.

That makes this kind of software worth paying for, not this one in particular: 17 of the 37 other e-signature and proposal tools grade higher.

What you could make

- Documents and templates: an app builder makes these well.

What you could not

- Editing the text inside a PDF without breaking its layout.
- A real app for iOS and Android. Something home-made would be a web page.
- AI features, unless you pay a model provider for each request yourself.
- What a company asks for before it lets staff use something: single sign-on and HIPAA.

What this rests on. DocHub's listing: what it does, where it runs, what it plugs into and what it costs. It is a judgement about the kind of software this is. We have not built a replacement for it, and making your own means looking after it too. How we decide, and every tool's verdict.
