Driversnote is a mileage tracking app for iOS, Android and the web that logs trips automatically, lets drivers classify them as business or personal, and exports reports for tax or reimbursement. Team plans add web tools for collecting and approving drivers' mileage. A Bluetooth iBeacon accessory can start trips automatically.

To get you started, here are 9 things to know about Driversnote, taken from its own pages and our grades.

Keep it, or make your own?

Keep it

The plain part of Driversnote you could make: expense tracking and reports. What surrounds it you could not. The 2 things listed below take a company, not a weekend.

It costs $132 a year.

What you could make

- Expense tracking and reports: an app builder makes these well.

What you could not

- A real app for iOS and Android. Something home-made would be a web page.

- ✕ An API that other software can build on.

What this rests on. Driversnote's listing: what it does, where it runs, what it plugs into and what it costs. It is a judgement about the kind of software this is. We have not built a replacement for it, and making your own means looking after it too. How we decide, and every tool's verdict.
