Welcome

What it is, who it suits, its grades and the ten things to know first

3.2

GPA, above 79 of the 85 other remote desktop apps we grade

DWService lets you reach a computer from any web browser after you install its open-source agent, DWAgent, on that machine. Sessions offer screen control, file access, a shell and system monitoring. The service is free by default, with optional subscriptions that raise the bandwidth cap and fund the project.

To get you started, here are 9 things to know about DWService, taken from its own pages and our grades.

> Paid tiers only raise the bandwidth cap and add your name to a page, and there is no phone app on the listing.
> From our report card of DWService

1 Best for free remote access from any browser

DWService gives free browser-based access to computers through an agent you install, with screen control, files, a shell and monitoring.

2 Paid plans start at about $4.02 a month

As its pricing page puts it: £3 per month, plus tax (£30 per year).

3 There is a free plan

Free plan with a 6 Mbps maximum bandwidth; the vendor says the service is ad-free and free of charge by default.

4 It runs on 4 platforms

Web, Windows, Linux and macOS.

5 Screen control

Shows the remote screen in the browser with cursor and keyboard control; the session can be shared with other users, optionally without mouse and keyboard use.

6 Files and folders

Browse, upload and download files on the remote system, and share folders with others with permissions from read-only to full access.

7 Shell and text editor

Open a terminal session on the remote computer, and view or edit text files and watch a log file update live.

8 A 3.2 GPA, above 79 of 85

That is against the other remote desktop apps we grade, on value, the free plan, features, ease of use and platforms.

9 Keep it

To replace DWService you would be making a fast, secure link to another computer through any network. That is not a weekend's work, with an AI app builder or without one.

The report card

Best for free remote access from any browser

DWService gives free browser-based access to computers through an agent you install, with screen control, files, a shell and monitoring. Paid tiers only raise the bandwidth cap and add your name to a page, and there is no phone app on the listing.

TOOLGPA REPORT CARD — DWService — Graded Nov 13, 2026

SUBJECT	GRADE	COMMENT
Value for money	A	Free with all applications included at 6 Mbps. Paid tiers start at £3 a month and add only bandwidth, which the vendor describes as optional support for the project.
Free plan and trial	A	The free plan includes every application, and its only limit is the 6 Mbps bandwidth cap.

SUBJECT	GRADE	COMMENT
Features	B	Screen control, files, shell, text editor and resource monitoring, plus APIs. Nothing in the listing is missing from the core remote-access job.
Ease of use	C	No rating on record. The agent must be installed on every computer you want to reach.
Platforms and integrations	B	Web access, with agents for Windows, Linux and Mac, plus an API. No phone app is listed.
Grade point average		Very good, out of 4.0 3.2

An A is worth 4 points, a B 3, a C 2, a D 1 and an F nothing. The GPA is the average of the five.

Who DWService is for

- ✓ Fits if you need to reach a home or office computer from a browser for free
- ✓ Works for admins who want a shell and files on Linux, Windows or Mac boxes

Who it is not for

- ✗ Tight if you need more than 6 Mbps, since every paid tier only raises that cap
- ✗ Watch out: subscriptions are in pounds sterling and exclude tax
- ✗ Watch out: the vendor says subscriptions are donations and buy no say in the project
- ✗ Skip it if you can't install an agent on the target computer, as that is the only way in

Good to know

Good for

- ✓ Reaching a home or office computer from any browser at no cost
- ✓ Administering Linux, Windows or Mac machines with a shell and file access
- ✓ Developers who want APIs to embed remote access in an application

Worth knowing

- ⓘ The free plan caps bandwidth at 6 Mbps; every paid tier raises only the bandwidth cap and adds a name or logo on the subscription page.
- ⓘ Subscription prices are listed in pounds sterling and exclude tax.
- ⓘ The vendor says subscriptions are optional contributions that support the project and give no control over its development.
- ⓘ The agent must be installed on each computer you want to reach; the home page lists Windows, Linux and Mac OS.

Where it stands

Its grades against its category, and whether to keep it or make your own

79/85

Other remote desktop apps it is graded above

DWService's GPA of 3.2 is higher than 79 of the 85 other remote desktop apps we grade, and level with 6.

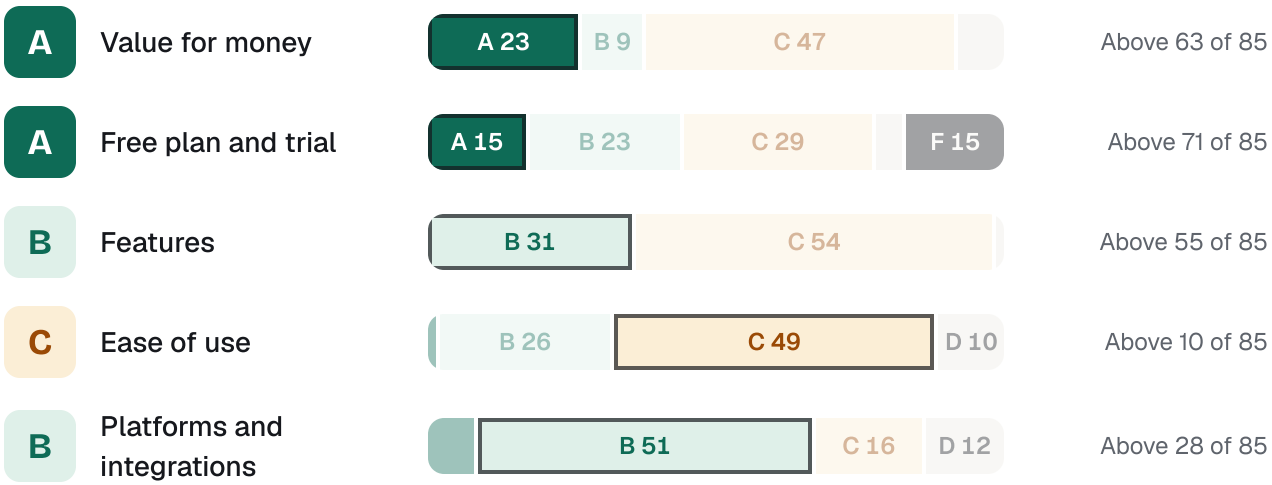

It stands best on free plan and trial (A, above 71 of 85) and worst on ease of use (C, above 10).

Its paid plans start at about $4.02 a month, against a middle price of $8.33 for the category: 14 of the 44 others that charge start lower.

On features, ease of use and platforms it scores 2.7 out of 4. 2 tools score higher and cost less.

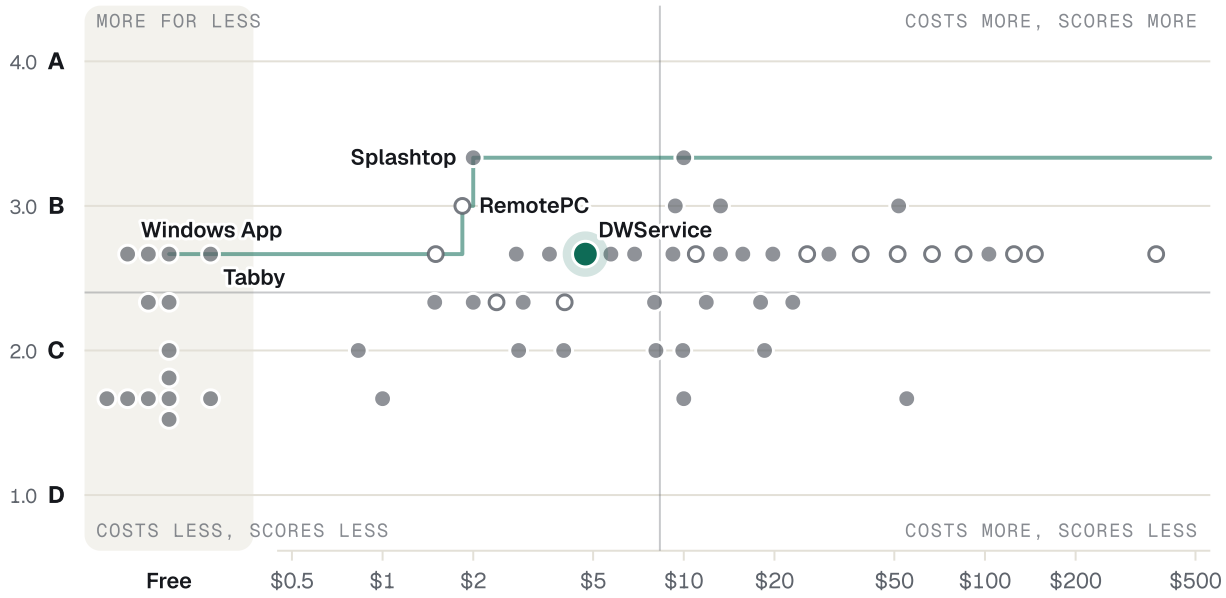

Each grade against the category

Every bar is all 86 remote desktop apps we grade, cut by the letter each got. DWService's own letter is outlined.

Price against what you get

Each dot is one of 59 remote desktop apps. Further left costs less; higher up scores better on features, ease of use and platforms. DWService is the marked dot.

What paid plans start at, a month (each step along is roughly double)

Keep it, or make your own?

Whether this is something you could build for yourself with an AI app builder, and what you would give up.

Keep it

To replace DWService you would be making a fast, secure link to another computer through any network. That is not a weekend's work, with an AI app builder or without one.

It is one of the better ones too: its GPA of 3.2 is higher than 79 of the 85 other remote desktop apps we grade. It costs $48.24 a year. DWService is open source, so there is a third way: take its code and run it yourself.

What you could not

- ✕ A fast, secure link to another computer through any network.

- ✕ Apps for macOS, Windows and Linux that stay in step with each other.
- ✕ What a company asks for before it lets staff use something: roles and permissions.
- ✕ Sharing with other people, which means accounts and invitations.
- ✕ The depth: we grade its features B, which means it covers the whole job.

What this rests on. DWService's listing: what it does, where it runs, what it plugs into and what it costs. It is a judgement about the kind of software this is. We have not built a replacement for it, and making your own means looking after it too. How we decide, and every tool's verdict.
