Welcome

What it is, who it suits, its grades and the ten things to know first

2.4

GPA, above 25 of the 69 other time tracking apps we grade

eBillity sells Time Tracker, a time tracking and billing service in three editions plus LawBillity, a version for law firms. Staff log time with timers or time cards on the web and in mobile apps, managers approve timesheets, and higher tiers add project tracking, expenses, invoicing and online payments. Timesheets sync to accounting and payroll tools.

To get you started, here are 9 things to know about eBillity, taken from its own pages and our grades.

> The dearer plans add a monthly base fee on top of each seat, and there is no free plan.
> From our report card of eBillity

1 Best for time tracking and billing for small firms

eBillity covers timesheets, billing, expenses and scheduling, with versions for hourly workers and for legal billing.

2 Paid plans start at $8 a month for each person

As its pricing page puts it: $8 per user / month, billed annually ($10 billed monthly).

3 You can try it first

14-day free trial, no credit card required

4 It runs on 3 platforms

Web, iOS and Android.

5 Timesheets and timers

Log time with timers or time cards, submit entries for approval and use a kiosk for clocking in. GPS and geofencing are included.

6 AI Time Entry Assistant

Listed on every edition, an assistant that helps enter time. The vendor also lists a Time Tracker MCP for connecting AI assistants.

7 Billing and expenses

Premium and LawBillity cover project tracking, job costing, budgets, expense tracking, client invoicing and online payments.

8 A 2.4 GPA, above 25 of 69

That is against the other time tracking apps we grade, on value, the free plan, features, ease of use and platforms.

9 Keep it

The plain part of eBillity you could make: time tracking, invoicing, expense tracking and reports. What surrounds it you could not. The 6 things listed below take a company, not a weekend.

TOOLGPA REPORT CARD	eBillity	Graded Nov 12, 2026
SUBJECT	GRADE	COMMENT
Value for money	C	$8 per user a month on yearly billing ($10 monthly), between the middle of $6.67 and the dearest quarter at $9. Premium is $16.80 plus a $24 base fee.
Free plan and trial	C	14-day free trial with no card needed, and no free plan.
Features	B	Timesheets, billing, expenses, scheduling and an AI entry assistant, with a legal-billing version; the listing names no gap in the core job.
Ease of use	C	No store rating on record. Clients, rates and projects have to be set up before billing works.
Platforms and integrations	B	Web, iPhone and Android with 8 integrations on record, and no desktop app.
Grade point average		Fair, out of 4.0 2.4

An A is worth 4 points, a B 3, a C 2, a D 1 and an F nothing. The GPA is the average of the five.

Who eBillity is for

- ✓ Fits if you bill clients by the hour and want timesheets and invoices together
- ✓ Works for firms that need legal billing codes and trust accounts

Who it is not for

- ✗ Pricey if you need Workforce or Premium, as each adds a monthly base fee on top of the seat price
- ✗ Skip it if you want a free plan, as the 14-day trial is the only free option
- ✗ Too light for large companies, which have to contact the vendor for volume pricing
- ✗ Watch out: the cheapest plan is time tracking and billing only, and legal features cost $33.60 a user

Good to know

Good for

- ✓ Freelancers, consultants and accountants who bill clients by the hour
- ✓ Law firms that need LEDES invoices and trust account tracking
- ✓ Businesses that sync approved hours to payroll or accounting software

Worth knowing

- ⓘ Workforce and Premium add a monthly base fee on top of the per-user price.
- ⓘ There is no free plan; the 14-day trial is the only no-cost option.
- ⓘ Volume pricing for large companies is quoted on request by contacting the vendor.

PART 04 · STANDING

Where it stands

Its grades against its category, and whether to keep it or make your own

25/69

Other time tracking apps it is graded above

eBillity's GPA of 2.4 is higher than 25 of the 69 other time tracking apps we grade, and level with 16.

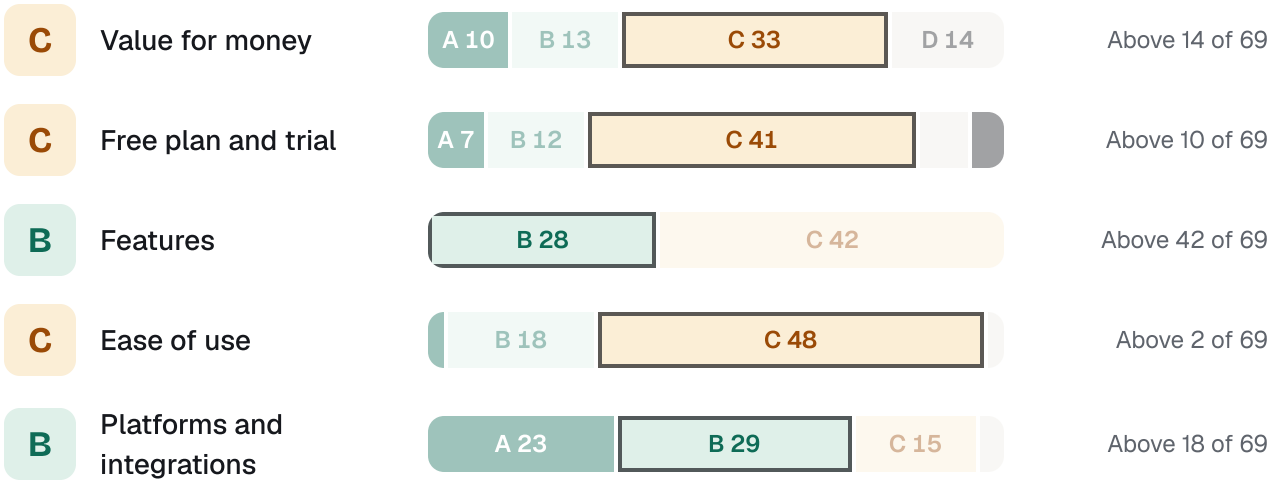

It stands best on features (B, above 42 of 69) and worst on ease of use (C, above 2).

Its paid plans start at $8 a month for each person, against a middle price of $6.70 for the category: 33 of the 58 others that charge start lower.

On features, ease of use and platforms it scores 2.7 out of 4. 12 tools score higher and cost less.

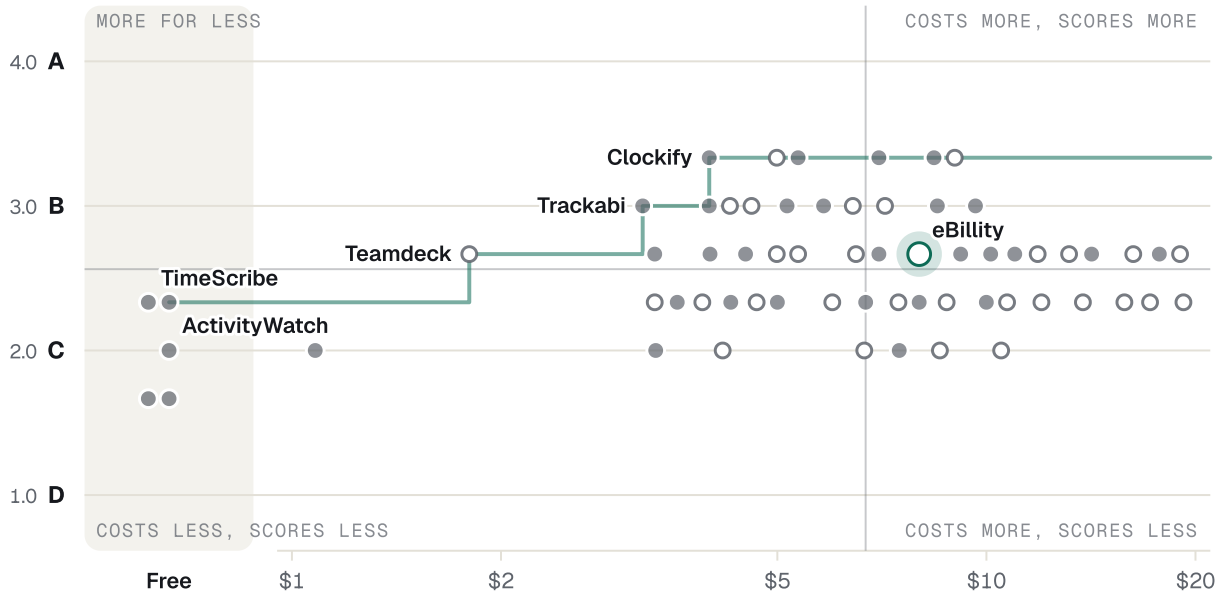

Each grade against the category

Every bar is all 70 time tracking apps we grade, cut by the letter each got. eBillity's own letter is outlined.

Price against what you get

Each dot is one of 64 time tracking apps. Further left costs less; higher up scores better on features, ease of use and platforms. eBillity is the marked dot.

What paid plans start at, a month (each step along is roughly double)

Keep it, or make your own?

Whether this is something you could build for yourself with an AI app builder, and what you would give up.

Keep it

The plain part of eBillity you could make: time tracking, invoicing, expense tracking and reports. What surrounds it you could not. The 6 things listed below take a company, not a weekend.

It costs $96 a year.

What you could make

- Time tracking, invoicing, expense tracking and reports: an app builder makes these well.

What you could not

- Clocking in from a phone, checked against where and when.

- A real app for iOS and Android. Something home-made would be a web page.
- It is priced for each person, which means accounts and billing for a team.
- It plugs into other products, QuickBooks, Gusto and ADP among them.
- AI features, unless you pay a model provider for each request yourself.
- The depth: we grade its features B, which means it covers the whole job.

What this rests on. eBillity's listing: what it does, where it runs, what it plugs into and what it costs. It is a judgement about the kind of software this is. We have not built a replacement for it, and making your own means looking after it too. How we decide, and every tool's verdict.
