It includes route planning, a customer portal, a mobile app with offline reporting, and optional voice AI agents that answer service calls. It is aimed at companies running mixed networks of staff and subcontractors.

Who Fieldcode is for

- ✓ Fits if you dispatch technicians by skill and want a 90-day trial before paying
- ✓ Works for teams that need an offline mobile app for checklists, photos and time

Who it is not for

- ✗ Skip it if you need inventory or assets in the same product, as that is Fieldcode Plus
- ✗ Tight if you want automatic dispatch, since that is only on the $65 plan
- ✗ Watch out: the voice AI agent is an add-on and partner reporting without a login costs extra
- ✗ Watch out: the pricing page does not say if prices are billed monthly or annually
- ✗ Too light on the Start plan if you run many teams, with 3 dispatch groups

Good to know

Good for

- ✓ Service organizations that mix employees and subcontractors
- ✓ IT, telecom, HVAC and facility service teams that want automated dispatch
- ✓ Companies that want a per-user price with a long trial

Worth knowing

- ⓘ Fully automated dispatching is limited to the Enterprise plan; Start caps dispatch groups at 3.
- ⓘ The voice AI agent is a separate add-on, and partner reporting without login carries an additional fee.
- ⓘ Assets, contracts and inventory sit in Fieldcode Plus, a separate product that is not part of these plans.
- ⓘ The page does not state whether prices are billed monthly or annually.

PART 04 · STANDING

Where it stands

Its grades against its category, and whether to keep it or make your own

68/87

Other field service apps it is graded above

Fieldcode's GPA of 2.4 is higher than 68 of the 87 other field service apps we grade, and level with 9.

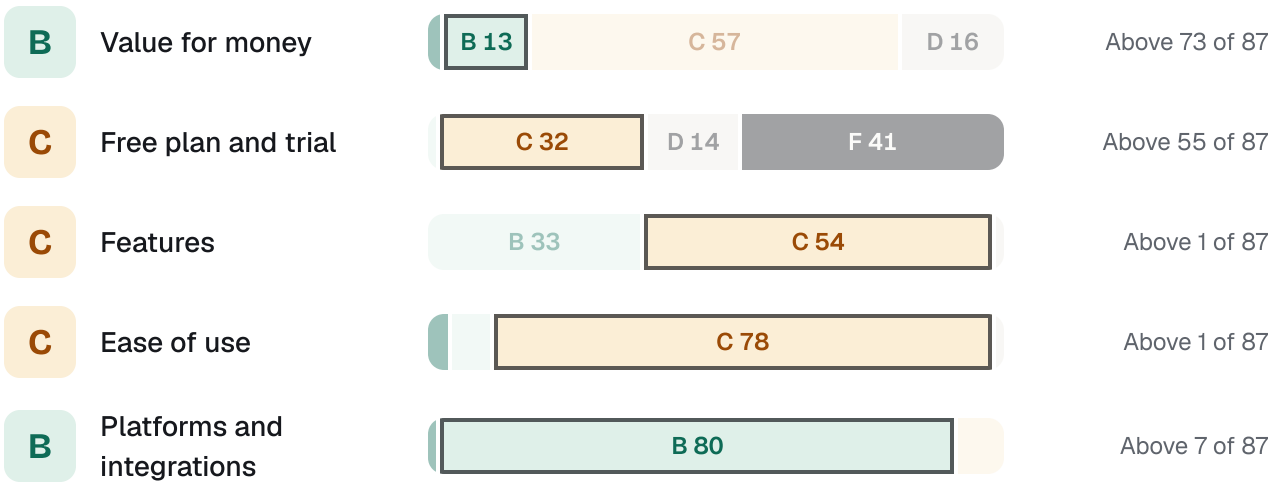

It stands best on value for money (B, above 73 of 87) and worst on features (C, above 1).

Its paid plans start at $25 a month for each person, against a middle price of $50 for the category: 5 of the 53 others that charge start lower.

On features, ease of use and platforms it scores 2.3 out of 4. 1 tool scores higher and costs less.

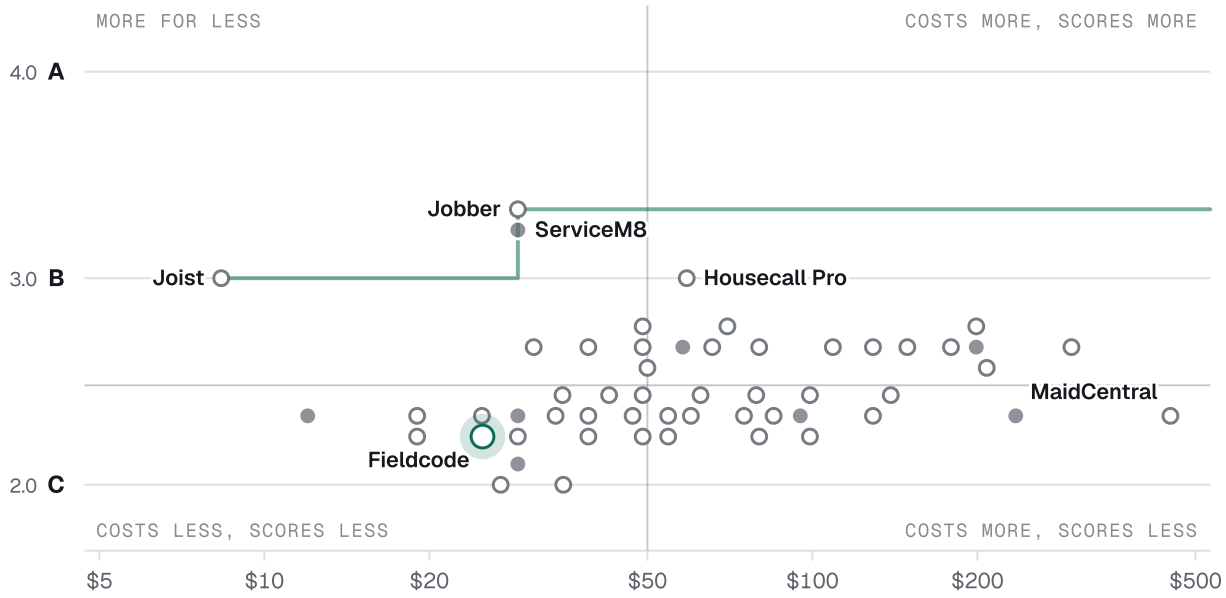

Each grade against the category

Every bar is all 88 field service apps we grade, cut by the letter each got. Fieldcode's own letter is outlined.

Price against what you get

Each dot is one of 54 field service apps. Further left costs less; higher up scores better on features, ease of use and platforms. Fieldcode is the marked dot.

What paid plans start at, a month (each step along is roughly double)

Keep it, or make your own?

Whether this is something you could build for yourself with an AI app builder, and what you would give up.

Keep it

To replace Fieldcode you would be making an AI agent, with the models and the safeguards behind it. That is not a weekend's work, with an AI app builder or without one.

It is one of the better ones too: its GPA of 2.4 is higher than 68 of the 87 other field service apps we grade. It costs $300 a year.

What you could make

- Job scheduling and reports: an app builder makes these well.

What you could not

- An AI agent, with the models and the safeguards behind it.

- Connections to other products, each kept working as those products change.
- A real app for iOS and Android. Something home-made would be a web page.
- It is priced for each person, which means accounts and billing for a team.

What this rests on. Fieldcode's listing: what it does, where it runs, what it plugs into and what it costs. It is a judgement about the kind of software this is. We have not built a replacement for it, and making your own means looking after it too. How we decide, and every tool's verdict.
