Welcome

What it is, who it suits, its grades and the ten things to know first

3.0

GPA, above 100 of the 122 other email apps we grade

Guerrilla Mail gives anyone a temporary email address on opening the site, with no registration. Mail is kept for one hour, and the inbox can send as well as receive. An optional paid add-on lets you point your own domain at it.

To get you started, here are 9 things to know about Guerrilla Mail, taken from its own pages and our grades.

> Anyone who knows an inbox ID can open it, and the site shows ads.
> From our report card of Guerrilla Mail

1 Best for a throwaway inbox with no sign-up

Guerrilla Mail is a free disposable inbox with no sign-up that deletes mail after an hour.

2 Paid plans start at $0.83 a month when paid by the year

As its pricing page puts it: $9.99 per year.

3 There is a free plan

The disposable inbox is free with no account; messages are deleted after 1 hour.

4 It runs on Web

Web.

5 No registration

A random address is created when you open the site, and you can also choose your own address.

6 Scrambled address

Anyone who knows an inbox ID can read that inbox, so the site offers a scrambled alias as an extra layer of protection.

7 Compose and reply

The inbox has a compose window, so you can send from the disposable address.

8 A 3.0 GPA, above 100 of 122

That is against the other email apps we grade, on value, the free plan, features, ease of use and platforms.

9 Keep it

Nothing Guerrilla Mail does is plain enough to make in a weekend. The 1 things listed below take a company.

TOOLGPA REPORT CARD

Guerrilla Mail

Graded Nov 13, 2026

SUBJECT	GRADE	COMMENT
Value for money	A	The disposable inbox is free, and using your own domain is $9.99 a year.
Free plan and trial	A	Free outright, with no account, so there's no cap to reach on a throwaway inbox.
Features	C	Receiving, replying and an API. It does the throwaway-address job fully, which is a smaller job than a mailbox, and it keeps nothing past an hour.
Ease of use	B	Open the page and you have an address. Nothing to set up.
Platforms and integrations	C	Web only, with an API for scripts. No phone or desktop apps are listed.

Grade point average — Very good, out of 4.0 3.0

An A is worth 4 points, a B 3, a C 2, a D 1 and an F nothing. The GPA is the average of the five.

Who Guerrilla Mail is for

- ✓ Fits if you need an address for a one-off confirmation link
- ✓ Works for developers who want a free inbox to test sign-ups against

Who it is not for

- ✗ Not for you if you need mail kept, as everything is deleted after 1 hour
- ✗ Skip it for anything private, since anyone with the inbox ID can open it
- ✗ Skip it if you dislike ads, as the site shows them and uses Google Analytics and AdSense
- ✗ Watch out: there's no spam folder

Good to know

Good for

- ✓ One-off sign-ups and confirmation links you do not want in your real inbox
- ✓ Developers who want to check that a site sends its emails

Worth knowing

- ⓘ Anyone who knows an inbox ID can open that inbox, so it suits low-stakes messages only.
- ⓘ Everything is deleted after an hour, and there is no spam folder.
- ⓘ The site shows ads and uses Google Analytics and AdSense cookies, per its About page.
- ⓘ The open-source part is the Go-Guerrilla mail server; the vendor does not say the whole website is open.

What it does

Its main features, where it runs, what it works with and who makes it

1

Place it runs: Web

Disposable email inbox that needs no sign-up. Here is what it does, as its own site describes it, and what it covers: open source, public API.

> It does the throwaway-address job fully, which is a smaller job than a mailbox, and it keeps nothing past an hour.
> From our grade for features

No registration

A random address is created when you open the site, and you can also choose your own address.

Scrambled address

Anyone who knows an inbox ID can read that inbox, so the site offers a scrambled alias as an extra layer of protection.

Compose and reply

The inbox has a compose window, so you can send from the disposable address.

One-hour retention

Messages are deleted an hour after they reach an inbox, or sooner if you delete them.

API

A public API is documented, and the vendor says its own front end uses it for everything.

Where it stands

Its grades against its category, and whether to keep it or make your own

100/122

Other email apps it is graded above

Guerrilla Mail's GPA of 3.0 is higher than 100 of the 122 other email apps we grade, and level with 15.

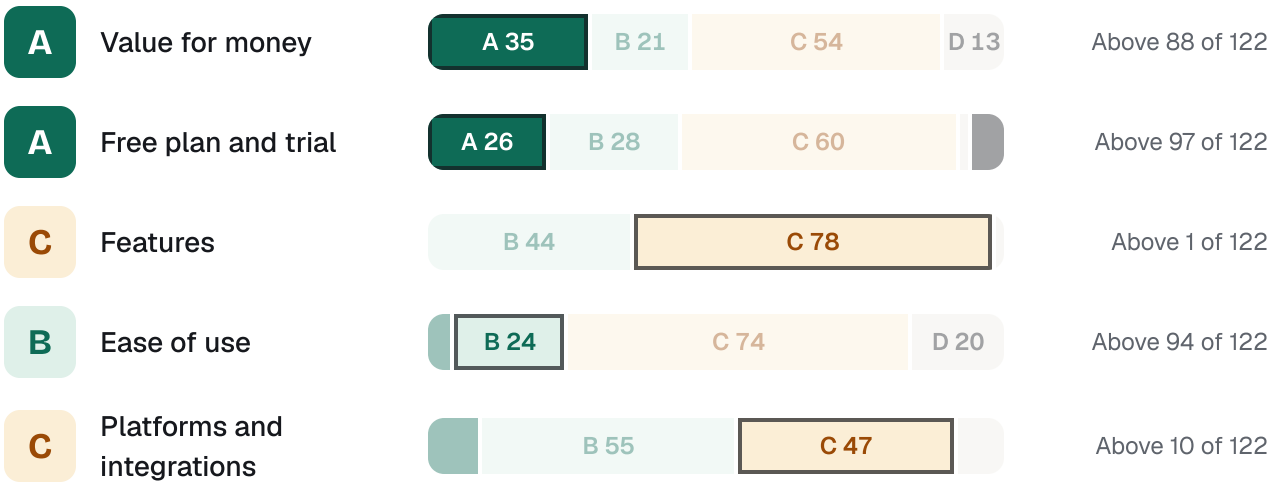

It stands best on free plan and trial (A, above 97 of 122) and worst on features (C, above 1).

Its paid plans start at $0.83 a month when paid by the year, against a middle price of $4.92 for the category: 1 of the 76 others that charge start lower.

On features, ease of use and platforms it scores 2.3 out of 4. 4 tools score higher and cost less.

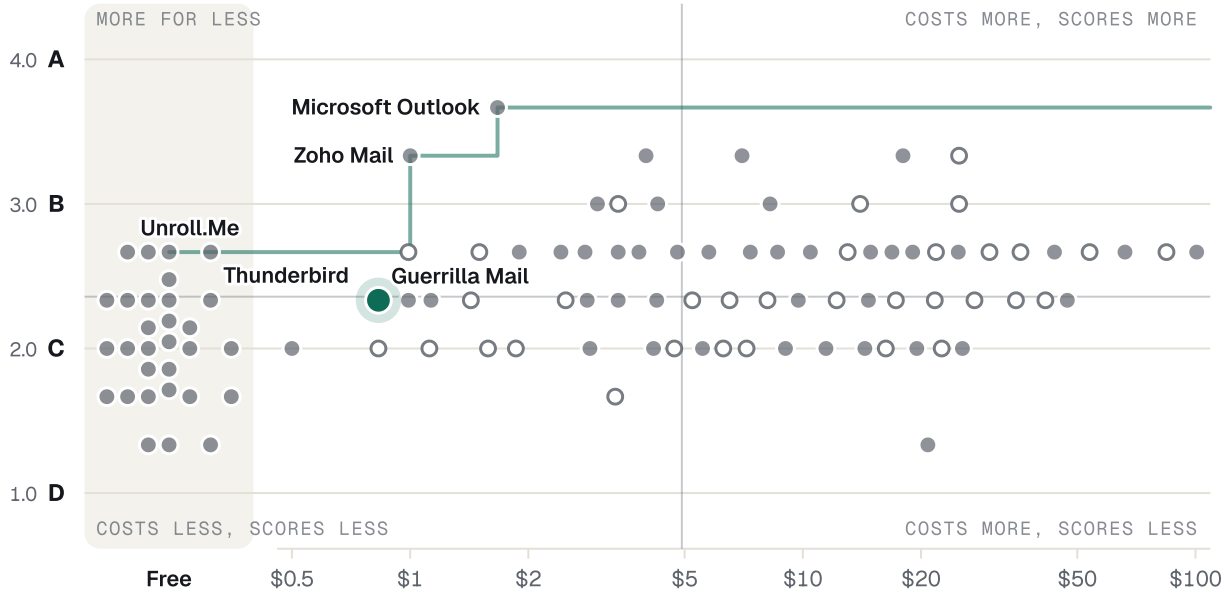

Each grade against the category

Every bar is all 123 email apps we grade, cut by the letter each got. Guerrilla Mail's own letter is outlined.

Price against what you get

Each dot is one of 107 email apps. Further left costs less; higher up scores better on features, ease of use and platforms. Guerrilla Mail is the marked dot.

Keep it

Nothing Guerrilla Mail does is plain enough to make in a weekend. The 1 things listed below take a company.

It is one of the better ones too: its GPA of 3.0 is higher than 100 of the 122 other email apps we grade. It costs $9.99 a year. Guerrilla Mail is open source, so there is a third way: take its code and run it yourself.

What you could not

- ✕ An API that other software can build on.

What this rests on. Guerrilla Mail's listing: what it does, where it runs, what it plugs into and what it costs. It is a judgement about the kind of software this is. We have not built a replacement for it, and making your own means looking after it too. How we decide, and every tool's verdict.
