Who HabitBoard is for

PART 04 · STANDING

Where it stands

Its grades against its category, and whether to keep it or make your own

10/64

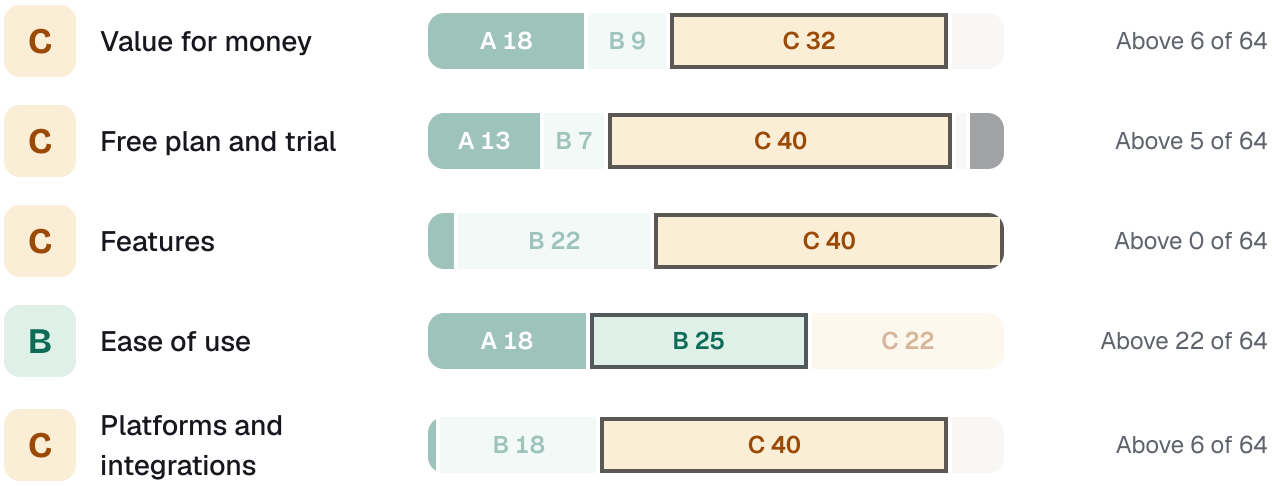

Other habit trackers it is graded above

HabitBoard's GPA of 2.2 is higher than 10 of the 64 other habit trackers we grade, and level with 8.

It stands best on ease of use (B, above 22 of 64) and worst on features (C, above 0).

Each grade against the category

Every bar is all 65 habit trackers we grade, cut by the letter each got. HabitBoard's own letter is outlined.

Keep it, or make your own?

Whether this is something you could build for yourself with an AI app builder, and what you would give up.

Your call

A habit tracker at its plainest is a list of habits, a tick for each day and a count of the streak.

You could make the core of HabitBoard for yourself: habit tracking, goals, reports and daily notes. What you would give up is listed below. Whether that is worth the price is your call.

What you could make

- Habit tracking, goals, reports and daily notes: an app builder makes these well.

What you could not

- A real app for iOS. Something home-made would be a web page.
- Hooks into the device itself: an Apple Watch app, widgets, Shortcuts and the lock screen.

What this rests on. HabitBoard's listing: what it does, where it runs, what it plugs into and what it costs. It is a judgement about the kind of software this is. We have not built a replacement for it, and making your own means looking after it too. How we decide, and every tool's verdict.
