Who HandiFox is for

- ✓ Fits if you run QuickBooks and want barcode scanning for stock
- ✓ Works for small warehouses that count and pick with phones

Who it is not for

- ✗ Skip it if you do not use QuickBooks, as the product is built around it

- ✗ Watch out: serial and lot numbers, pick and pack and the B2B portal are Pro only
- ✗ Watch out: the pricing page shows a first-year offer ending August 1 and no regular price
- ✗ Pricey if you use QuickBooks Desktop, because that is a separate $1,995 licence per mobile device

- ⓘ Serial and lot numbers, picking and packing, and the B2B portal are Pro only.

Keep it, or make your own?

Keep it

The plain part of HandiFox you could make: inventory, invoicing and reports. What surrounds it you could not. The 2 things listed below take a company, not a weekend.

It costs $588 a year.

What you could make

- Inventory, invoicing and reports: an app builder makes these well.

What you could not

- Scanning barcodes with a phone camera or a scanner.

- A real app for iOS and Android. Something home-made would be a web page.

What this rests on. HandiFox's listing: what it does, where it runs, what it plugs into and what it costs. It is a judgement about the kind of software this is. We have not built a replacement for it, and making your own means looking after it too. How we decide, and every tool's verdict.
