Price against what you get

Keep it, or make your own?

Whether this is something you could build for yourself with an AI app builder, and what you would give up.

Keep it

To replace HelpKit you would be making a builder that other people can use without writing code. That is not a weekend's work, with an AI app builder or without one.

It costs $180 a year.

What you could make

- Help center: an app builder makes this well.

What you could not

- A builder that other people can use without writing code.

- A chatbot builder hooked into the messaging apps.
- AI features, unless you pay a model provider for each request yourself.

What this rests on. HelpKit's listing: what it does, where it runs, what it plugs into and what it costs. It is a judgement about the kind of software this is. We have not built a replacement for it, and making your own means looking after it too. How we decide, and every tool's verdict.
