Who Legito is for

- ✓ Fits if you want to generate contracts from templates and sign them in one tool
- ✓ Works for legal teams that can use the lite workspace first

Who it is not for

- ✕ Skip it if you need ID checks on signers, as signatures are tied to an email address
- ✕ Not for you if you sign Word files, since only PDFs are signed and others are converted
- ✕ Pricey if you outgrow the lite workspace, because paid prices are quoted
- ✕ Too light for a heavy signing queue, since e-signing is one part of a larger platform

Good to know

Good for

- ✓ Back-office, legal and procurement teams automating contracts
- ✓ Companies that want signing inside the same system that drafts the document
- ✓ Organizations that want to start on a free workspace

Worth knowing

- ⓘ Only PDF files are signed; other formats are converted on upload.
- ⓘ Signatures are tied to an email address, and the signing page describes no ID verification step.
- ⓘ Paid plans have no published prices, so costs must be requested.
- ⓘ E-signing is one part of a larger document platform, which suits teams that want more than signatures.

PART 04 · STANDING

Where it stands

Its grades against its category, and whether to keep it or make your own

58/78

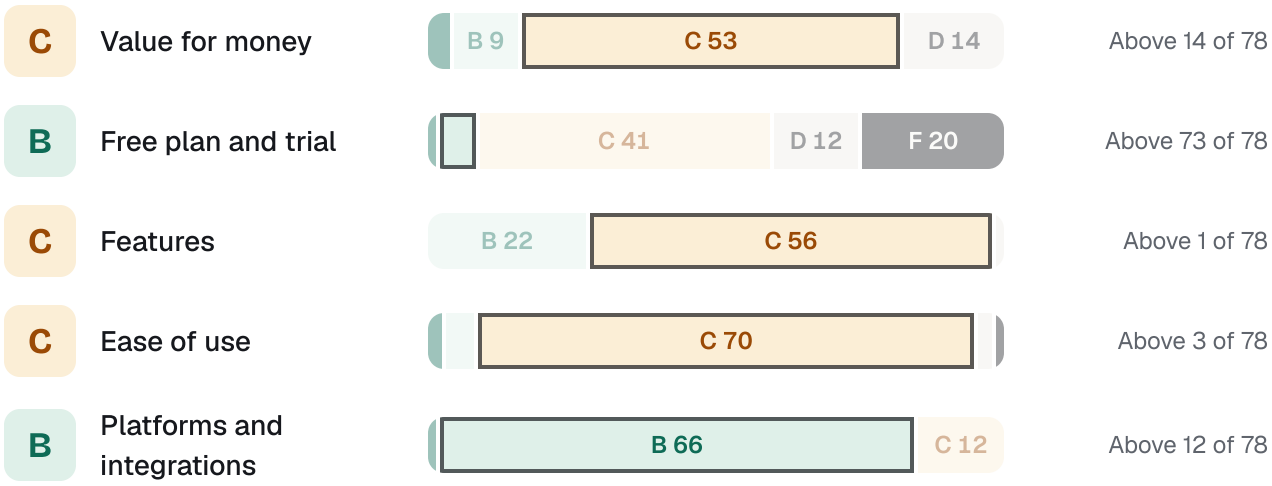

Other e-signature and proposal tools it is graded above

Legito's GPA of 2.4 is higher than 58 of the 78 other e-signature and proposal tools we grade, and level with 11.

It stands best on free plan and trial (B, above 73 of 78) and worst on features (C, above 1).

Each grade against the category

Every bar is all 79 e-signature and proposal tools we grade, cut by the letter each got. Legito's own letter is outlined.

Keep it, or make your own?

Whether this is something you could build for yourself with an AI app builder, and what you would give up.

Keep it

To replace Legito you would be making connections to other products, each kept working as those products change. That is not a weekend's work, with an AI app builder or without one.

It is one of the better ones too: its GPA of 2.4 is higher than 58 of the 78 other e-signature and proposal tools we grade.

What you could make

- Documents and templates: an app builder makes these well.

What you could not

- Connections to other products, each kept working as those products change.
- A builder that other people can use without writing code.
- AI features, unless you pay a model provider for each request yourself.
- Sharing with other people, which means accounts and invitations.

What this rests on. Legito's listing: what it does, where it runs, what it plugs into and what it costs. It is a judgement about the kind of software this is. We have not built a replacement for it, and making your own means looking after it too. How we decide, and every tool's verdict.
