Welcome

What it is, who it suits, its grades and the ten things to know first

2.4

GPA, above 11 of the 48 other window managers and launchers we grade

MaxTo divides each monitor into rows and columns that you define, then snaps a window into a zone with a keyboard shortcut or by dragging. It works across several monitors, including mixed resolutions, and can remember where an application's windows belong. It started on Windows and now also runs on Mac, with Home and Business licenses.

To get you started, here are 9 things to know about MaxTo, taken from its own pages and our grades.

1 Best for snapping windows to custom zones on Windows and Mac

MaxTo snaps windows into custom screen zones by hotkey or drag, on Windows and Mac.

2 Paid plans start at about $1.77 a month

As its pricing page puts it: €19 per year (Home, personal use).

3 You can try it first

14-day free trial

4 It runs on 2 platforms

Windows and macOS.

5 Custom grid zones

Build the rows and columns you want on each monitor, differently per monitor, and save frequently used layouts as presets.

6 Hotkey snapping

Move a window into a preset zone from the keyboard, with Page Up and Page Down sending it to another monitor.

7 Drag-to-snap

Shows live zone highlighting while a window is dragged and snaps it on release.

8 A 2.4 GPA, above 11 of 48

That is against the other window managers and launchers we grade, on value, the free plan, features, ease of use and platforms.

9 Keep it

To replace MaxTo you would be making control over other apps' windows. That is not a weekend's work, with an AI app builder or without one.

An A is worth 4 points, a B 3, a C 2, a D 1 and an F nothing. The GPA is the average of the five.

Who MaxTo is for

- ✓ Fits if you use several monitors and want your own zone layout
- ✓ Works for people on both Windows and Mac

Who it is not for

- ✕ Skip it if you want a free tool, since there is only a 14-day trial
- ✕ Not for you if you work on a company computer with a Home licence, as Business is €39 per computer a year
- ✕ Watch out: Home updates stop when the yearly subscription ends
- ✕ Watch out: prices were in euros and the page showed no dollar figures

Good to know

Good for

- ✓ Ultrawide or multi-monitor desks that need custom zones
- ✓ People who prefer to place windows with the keyboard
- ✓ Teams that need an organization license for managed computers

Worth knowing

- ⓘ Home licenses do not work on work-managed computers; those need the Business license, billed per computer.
- ⓘ There is no free plan, only a 14-day trial.
- ⓘ Prices were read in euros; the page showed no US dollar figures.
- ⓘ Home updates stop when the yearly subscription ends, while Lifetime keeps updating.

Where it stands

Its grades against its category, and whether to keep it or make your own

11/48

Other window managers and launchers it is graded above

MaxTo's GPA of 2.4 is higher than 11 of the 48 other window managers and launchers we grade, and level with 11.

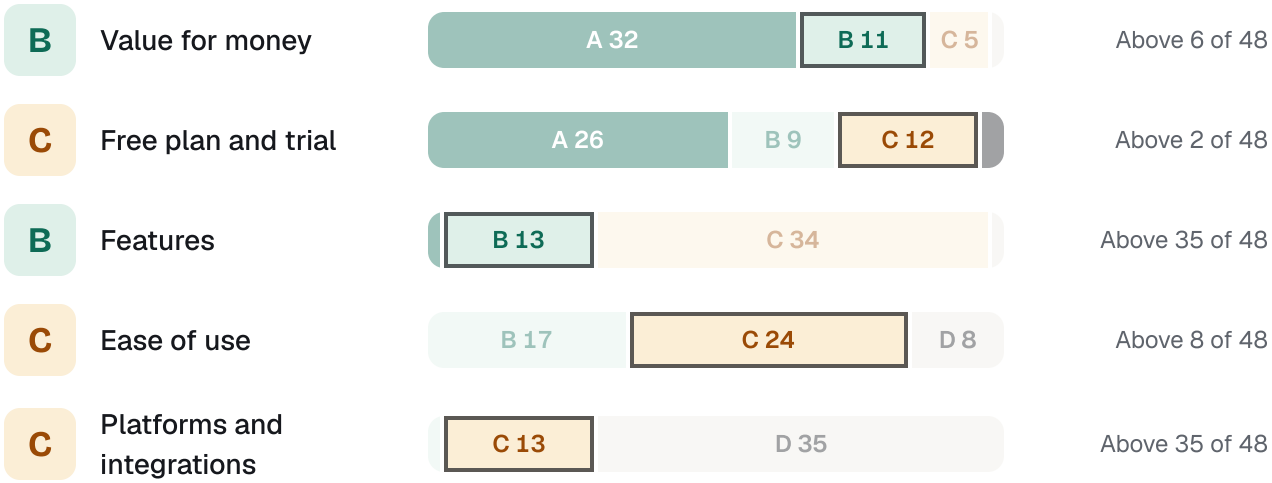

It stands best on features (B, above 35 of 48) and worst on free plan and trial (C, above 2).

Its paid plans start at about $1.77 a month, against a middle price of $4.89 for the category: 1 of the 3 others that charge start lower.

On features, ease of use and platforms it scores 2.3 out of 4. Nothing scores higher for less, though at least one tool matches that score at a lower price.

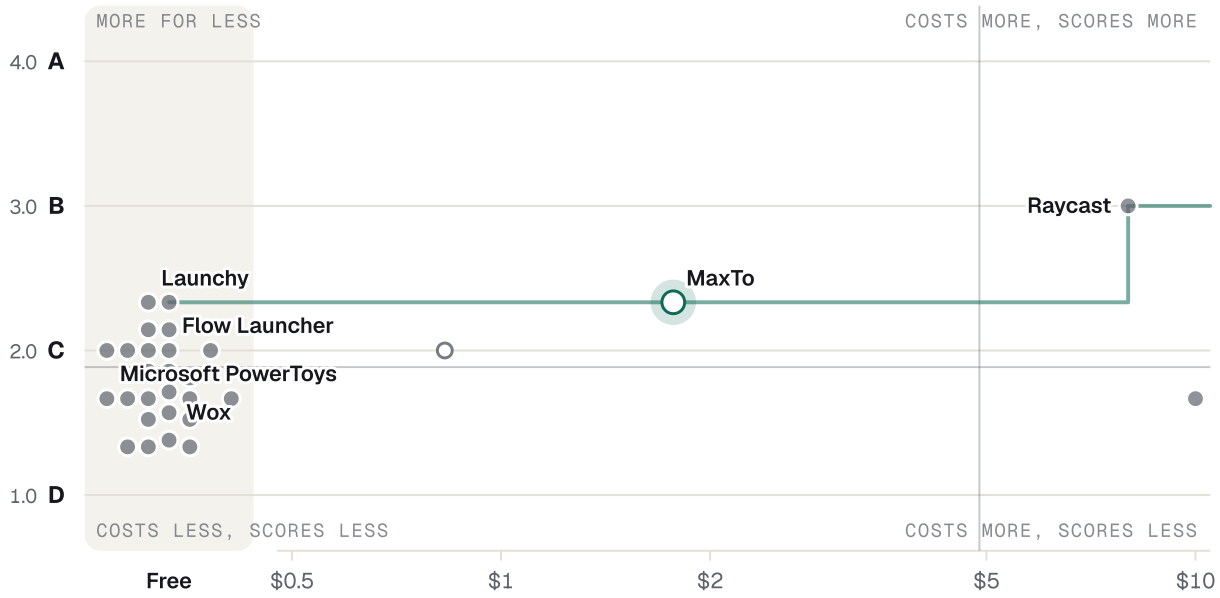

Each grade against the category

Every bar is all 49 window managers and launchers we grade, cut by the letter each got. MaxTo's own letter is outlined.

Price against what you get

Each dot is one of 29 window managers and launchers. Further left costs less; higher up scores better on features, ease of use and platforms. MaxTo is the marked dot.

What paid plans start at, a month (each step along is roughly double)

Keep it, or make your own?

Whether this is something you could build for yourself with an AI app builder, and what you would give up.

Keep it

To replace MaxTo you would be making control over other apps' windows. That is not a weekend's work, with an AI app builder or without one.

That makes this kind of software worth paying for, not this one in particular: 26 of the 48 other window managers and launchers grade higher. It costs $21.23 a year.

What you could not

- ✕ Control over other apps' windows.
- ✕ A real app for macOS and Windows. Something home-made would be a web page.

- The depth: we grade its features B, which means it covers the whole job.

What this rests on. MaxTo's listing: what it does, where it runs, what it plugs into and what it costs. It is a judgement about the kind of software this is. We have not built a replacement for it, and making your own means looking after it too. How we decide, and every tool's verdict.
