Welcome

What it is, who it suits, its grades and the ten things to know first

1.6

GPA, above 5 of the 81 other cold outreach tools we grade

Mission Inbox sells outbound email infrastructure: mailboxes on dedicated IP addresses, automatic DNS setup and a pre-send scan of content, headers and DNS. It is meant to sit under a sequencer or CRM the team already uses, such as Instantly, Smartlead, Apollo or HubSpot, instead of replacing it.

To get you started, here are 8 things to know about Mission Inbox, taken from its own pages and our grades.

1 Best for dedicated mailboxes and IPs for cold email

Mission Inbox provides dedicated mailboxes and IP addresses for cold email, with a pre-send scan.

2 Paid plans start at $50 a month

As its pricing page puts it: $50 per month for 15 mailboxes and 5,000 sends.

3 It runs on Web

Web.

4 Dedicated IP addresses

Each mailbox sends from IP addresses reserved for the account instead of a shared pool, so other senders' habits do not affect its reputation.

5 MI Shield pre-send scan

The vendor's own AI checks content, headers and DNS before each outbound send to catch problems before a campaign goes live.

6 Automatic DNS and mailbox setup

Mailboxes are created in one step and DNS records are configured automatically, so they can be connected to a sequencer afterwards.

7 A 1.6 GPA, above 5 of 81

That is against the other cold outreach tools we grade, on value, the free plan, features, ease of use and platforms.

8 Keep it

To replace Mission Inbox you would be making a network of real inboxes that open and answer your emails. That is not a weekend's work, with an AI app builder or without one.

Who Mission Inbox is for

- ✓ Fits if you want dedicated IPs for outbound and already own a sequencer
- ✓ Works for agencies that keep each client's sending apart

Who it is not for

- ✗ Not for you if you want to write or schedule campaigns, because there is no sequencer
- ✗ Tight if you send past 5,000 a month, since Lite pauses at the limit, counts warm-up emails and has no overage billing
- ✗ Skip it if you want a trial, as none is offered
- ✗ Pricey if you add warm-up, which is a paid add-on, or move to Scale at $199 a month

Good to know

Good for

- ✓ Agencies that want separate sending setups for each client
- ✓ Teams that already have a sequencer and only need mailboxes
- ✓ Senders who want dedicated IPs rather than a shared pool

Worth knowing

- ⓘ It is infrastructure only: there is no sequencer, so you need another tool to write and schedule campaigns.
- ⓘ Lite is a fixed plan with no overage billing; at 5,000 sends, counting warmup emails, you have to move to Scale.
- ⓘ Premium Warmups are a paid add-on, and sends include warmup emails.
- ⓘ Pricing is a monthly rate; the calculator shows prepaid-monthly (10% off) and annual (17% off) options.

Each dot is one of 74 cold outreach tools. Further left costs less; higher up scores better on features, ease of use and platforms. Mission Inbox is the marked dot.

Keep it, or make your own?

Whether this is something you could build for yourself with an AI app builder, and what you would give up.

Keep it

To replace Mission Inbox you would be making a network of real inboxes that open and answer your emails. That is not a weekend's work, with an AI app builder or without one.

That makes this kind of software worth paying for, not this one in particular: 64 of the 81 other cold outreach tools grade higher. It costs $600 a year.

What you could not

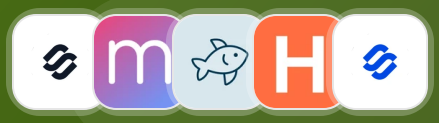

- ✕ A network of real inboxes that open and answer your emails.

- ✕ It plugs into other products, HubSpot, Salesforce and Apollo among them, and has an API.
- ✕ AI features, unless you pay a model provider for each request yourself.

What this rests on. Mission Inbox's listing: what it does, where it runs, what it plugs into and what it costs. It is a judgement about the kind of software this is. We have not built a replacement for it, and making your own means looking after it too. How we decide, and every tool's verdict.
