Welcome

What it is, who it suits, its grades and the ten things to know first

2.4

GPA, above 41 of the 98 other time tracking apps we grade mite is a web-based time tracker from mite GmbH in Freiburg, Germany. Time goes against customers, projects and services, entered by hand or with a timer that keeps running on the server. It has reports, exports to XLS, CSV and XML, iOS and Android apps, a macOS menu-bar app and an open API. One price applies per active user.

> From our grade for ease of use

To get you started, here are 9 things to know about mite, taken from its own pages and our grades.

1 Best for simple time tracking for freelancers and small teams

It's web, phone and Mac menu bar, but there's no free plan, no built-in invoicing and no Windows app from the vendor.

2 Paid plans start at about $5.59 a month for each person

As its pricing page puts it: €5 per user / month, including VAT if required.

3 You can try it first

30-day free trial, fully featured, no credit card required

4 It runs on 4 platforms

Web, iOS, Android and macOS.

5 Manual entry and server-side timer

Add entries by choosing a project and service, or start a timer that keeps running after the browser tab is closed.

6 Customers, projects and services

Time is structured by customer, project and service. Any of them can be archived instead of deleted.

7 Reports and exports

Dashboards for the person, team and project, filters by time frame, customer, user or billable status, and export to XLS, CSV or XML.

8 A 2.4 GPA, above 41 of 98

That is against the other time tracking apps we grade, on value, the free plan, features, ease of use and platforms.

9 Keep it

The plain part of mite you could make: time tracking and reports. What surrounds it you could not. The 4 things listed below take a company, not a weekend.

The report card

Best for simple time tracking for freelancers and small teams

mite is one plan at €5 a user a month with every feature, from a German maker. It's web, phone and Mac menu bar, but there's no free plan, no built-in invoicing and no Windows app from the vendor.

TOOLGPA REPORT CARD — mite — Graded Nov 13, 2026

SUBJECT	GRADE	COMMENT
Value for money	C	€5 a user a month including VAT, €4.20 for non-EU businesses. That's between the cheaper quarter and the middle of time trackers.
Free plan and trial	C	A 30-day trial with no card. No free plan, and data is deleted if you don't pay.
Features	C	Timer, customers, projects, services, reports and exports. It does tracking fully but has no invoicing of its own.
Ease of use	C	No store rating on record. You build customers, projects and services before tracking.
Platforms and integrations	A	Web, iOS, Android and a macOS menu-bar app, with an open API and invoicing imports like Billomat and sevDesk.

Grade point average — Fair, out of 4.0 2.4

An A is worth 4 points, a B 3, a C 2, a D 1 and an F nothing. The GPA is the average of the five.

Who mite is for

- ✓ Fits if you track hours by customer and project and invoice somewhere else
- ✓ Works for small teams that want one price with nothing locked

Who it is not for

- ✕ Skip it if you want a free plan, because there isn't one
- ✕ Not for you if you want invoices inside the tool, as it hands time to other apps
- ✕ Too light for Windows users who want an official desktop app, since that client is third-party
- ✕ Watch out: prices are in euros and include VAT where it applies

Good to know

Good for

- ✓ Freelancers and small agencies that want a plain time tracker
- ✓ Teams in Germany or the EU that pay a single price including VAT
- ✓ People who want to export hours to their own invoicing tool

Worth knowing

- ⓘ Prices are in euros per user; the €5 includes VAT where it applies, and EU businesses with a VAT ID pay the net amount.
- ⓘ There is no free plan, and data is deleted after a trial that is not paid for or after cancelling.
- ⓘ It is a hosted web application only; the vendor says there is no self-hosted version.
- ⓘ The official apps cover iOS, Android and macOS; the Windows client is third-party.

PART 04 · STANDING

Where it stands

Its grades against its category, and whether to keep it or make your own

41/98

Other time tracking apps it is graded above

mite's GPA of 2.4 is higher than 41 of the 98 other time tracking apps we grade, and level with 24.

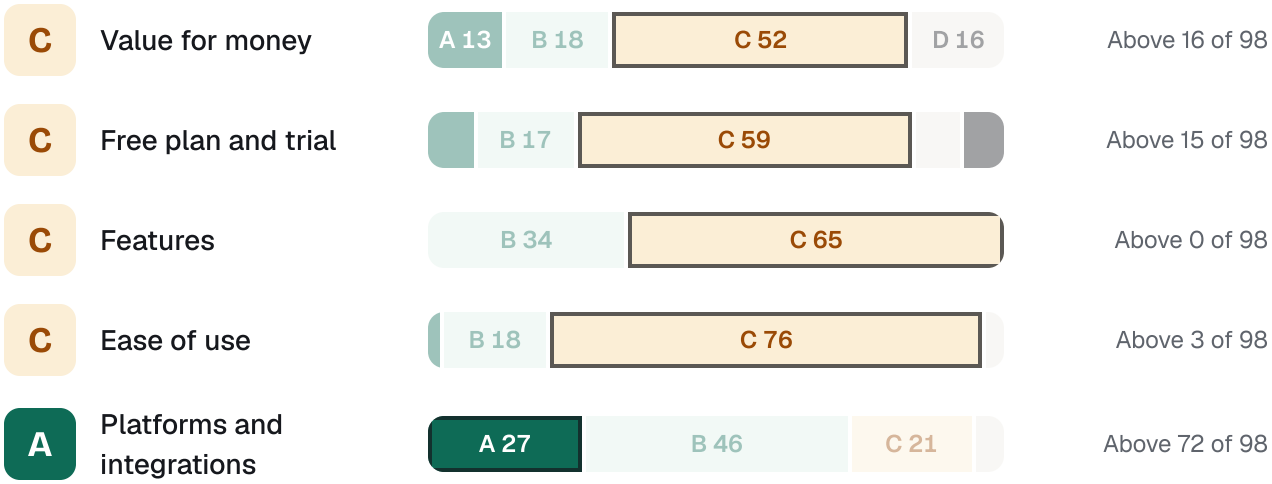

It stands best on platforms and integrations (A, above 72 of 98) and worst on features (C, above 0).

Its paid plans start at about $5.59 a month for each person, against a middle price of $6.99 for the category: 32 of the 80 others that charge start lower.

On features, ease of use and platforms it scores 2.7 out of 4. 10 tools score higher and cost less.

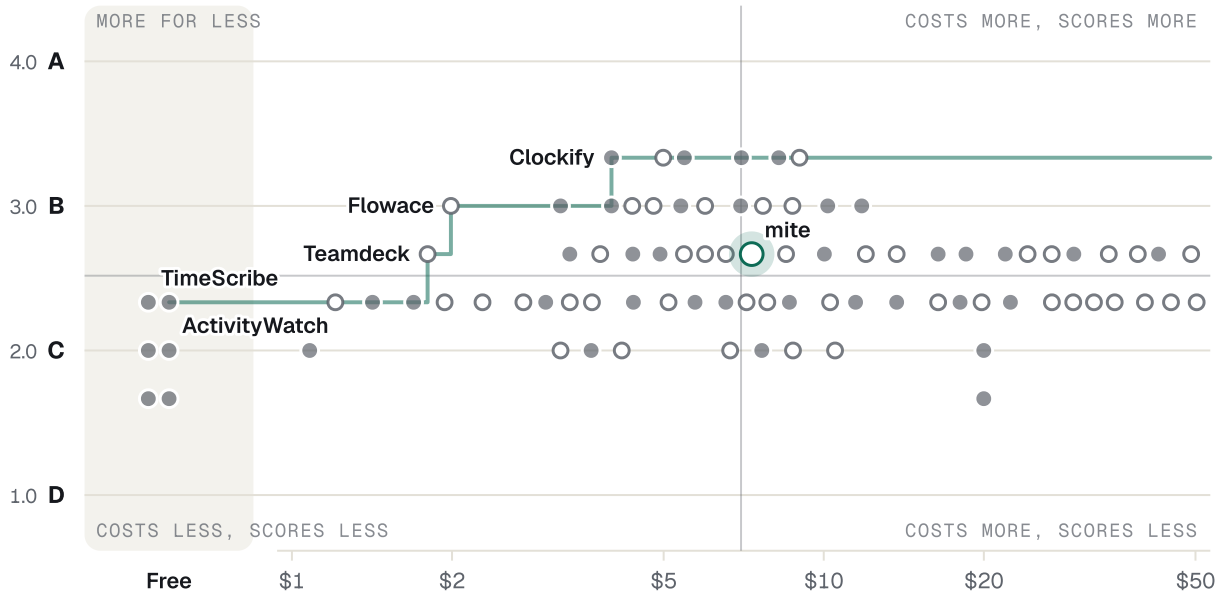

Each grade against the category

Every bar is all 99 time tracking apps we grade, cut by the letter each got. mite's own letter is outlined.

Price against what you get

Each dot is one of 87 time tracking apps. Further left costs less; higher up scores better on features, ease of use and platforms. mite is the marked dot.

Keep it, or make your own?

Whether this is something you could build for yourself with an AI app builder, and what you would give up.

Keep it

The plain part of mite you could make: time tracking and reports. What surrounds it you could not. The 4 things listed below take a company, not a weekend.

It costs $67.03 a year.

What you could make

- Time tracking and reports: an app builder makes these well.

What you could not

- A native app living in the menu bar.
- Apps for macOS, iOS and Android that stay in step with each other.

- It is priced for each person, which means accounts and billing for a team.
- It plugs into other products, Billomat, sevDesk and SalesKing among them, and has an API.

What this rests on. mite's listing: what it does, where it runs, what it plugs into and what it costs. It is a judgement about the kind of software this is. We have not built a replacement for it, and making your own means looking after it too. How we decide, and every tool's verdict.
