Who Noteshub is for

- ✓ Fits if you want Markdown notes in a Git repo you own
- ✓ Works for people who move between Apple, Android and Windows devices

Who it is not for

- ✗ Not for you if you want a free try: no free plan or trial is shown
- ✗ Watch out: only the $4.99 Apple price was read, so Android and Windows prices are unconfirmed
- ✗ Watch out: the vendor's comparison table ties some features to certain platforms
- ✗ Tight if you dislike Git: sync means setting up a remote or iCloud Drive

Good to know

Good for

- ✓ People who want Markdown notes stored in their own Git repository
- ✓ Anyone who wants a one-time price instead of a subscription

Worth knowing

- ⓘ Only the $4.99 Apple App Store price was read; Android, Windows and web pricing is not stated on the pages read.
- ⓘ Several features, such as large Git notebooks and more frequent sync, are tied to platforms in the vendor's comparison table.
- ⓘ iCloud Drive and file-system notebooks are marked with an asterisk as platform-dependent on the features list.

PART 04 · STANDING

Where it stands

Its grades against its category, and whether to keep it or make your own

18/169

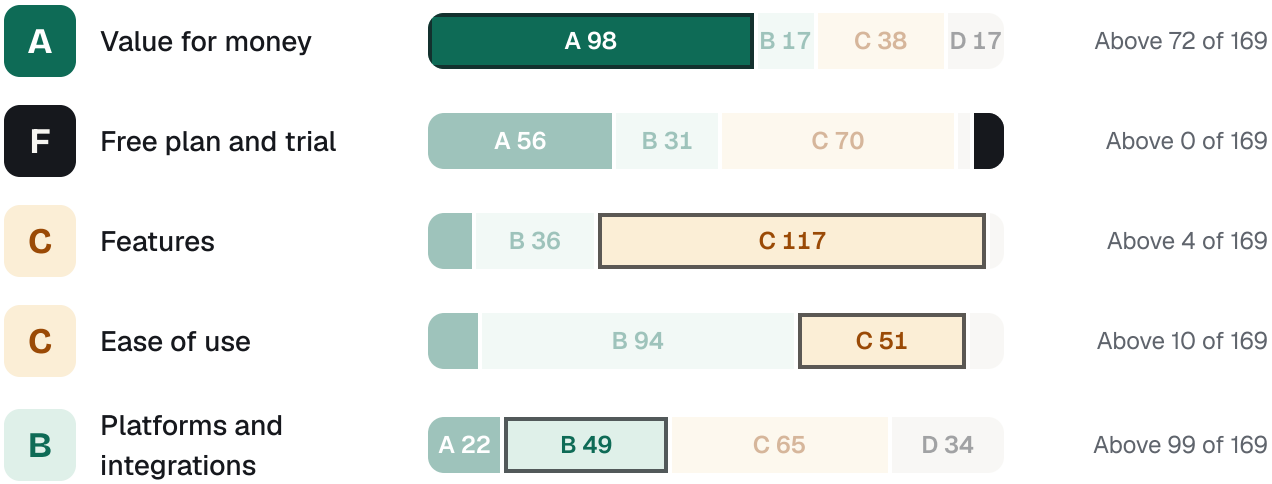

Other note-taking apps it is graded above

Noteshub's GPA of 2.2 is higher than 18 of the 169 other note-taking apps we grade, and level with 14.

It stands best on value for money (A, above 72 of 169) and worst on free plan and trial (F, above 0).

Each grade against the category

Every bar is all 170 note-taking apps we grade, cut by the letter each got. Noteshub's own letter is outlined.

Keep it, or make your own?

Whether this is something you could build for yourself with an AI app builder, and what you would give up.

Keep it

The plain part of Noteshub you could make: notes, Markdown and kanban boards. What surrounds it you could not. The 4 things listed below take a company, not a weekend.

That makes this kind of software worth paying for, not this one in particular: 137 of the 169 other note-taking apps grade higher. It costs $4.99, paid once.

What you could make

- Notes, Markdown and kanban boards: an app builder makes these well.

What you could not

- An endless canvas that stays smooth with hundreds of things on it.
- Apps for macOS, Windows, iOS and Android that stay in step with each other.
- It plugs into other products, GitHub, iCloud Drive and Git among them.
- AI features, unless you pay a model provider for each request yourself.

What this rests on. Noteshub's listing: what it does, where it runs, what it plugs into and what it costs. It is a judgement about the kind of software this is. We have not built a replacement for it, and making your own means looking after it too. How we decide, and every tool's verdict.
