The report card

Best for large companies planning a portfolio of work

Planview is a family of enterprise portfolio, resource and delivery products that the company sells through its sales team. No prices are published, the trial terms are not stated, and which product you need depends on the job. A small team has no reason to start here.

TOOLGPA REPORT CARD

Planview

Graded Nov 12, 2026

SUBJECT	GRADE	COMMENT
Value for money	C	No price is published and plans are sold through sales, so it sits in the middle until a quote says otherwise.
Free plan and trial	D	The site offers demos and free trials, but the pages read do not state the length or whether a card is needed. No free plan.
Features	C	Portfolio planning, resource capacity, dependencies and dashboards. It is a family of separate products, so no single one covers the whole job.
Ease of use	C	No store rating on record. Sold to enterprises through a sales process, so expect set-up work.
Platforms and integrations	C	Web only on the listing, with no integrations or API named on the pages read.

Grade point average — Weak, out of 4.0 1.8

An A is worth 4 points, a B 3, a C 2, a D 1 and an F nothing. The GPA is the average of the five.

Who Planview is for

- ✓ Fits if you run a large portfolio and have a buying process that includes sales calls
- ✓ Works for companies that need portfolio, resource and delivery planning from one vendor

Who it is not for

- ✗ Skip it if you want to see a price first: the site has no pricing page
- ✗ Not for you if you are a small team, as the company says it serves more than 3,000 customers
- ✗ Watch out: it is several products, and the trial terms were not stated
- ✗ Too light on public detail to compare plans, trial or limits without talking to sales

Good to know

Good for

- ✓ Large organizations running portfolio management across many programs
- ✓ PMOs that tie funding and resource capacity to strategy
- ✓ Companies that want a single vendor for portfolio, delivery and services work

Worth knowing

- ⓘ No prices are published; the site has no pricing page, and plans are sold through the sales team.
- ⓘ Planview is a family of separate products, so which one a buyer needs depends on the job.
- ⓘ The company page says it serves more than 3,000 customers, which signals an enterprise focus, not a small-team tool.
- ⓘ The site offers demos and free trials through a demos page, but the trial terms were not stated on the pages read.

PART 04 · STANDING

Where it stands

Its grades against its category, and whether to keep it or make your own

3/111

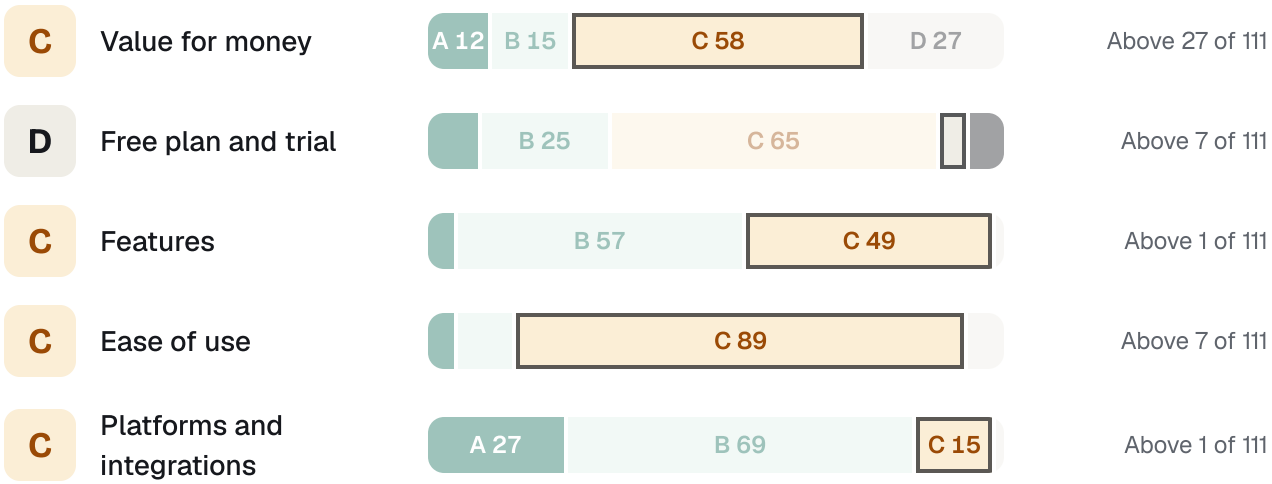

Other project management tools it is graded above

Planview's GPA of 1.8 is higher than 3 of the 111 other project management tools we grade, and level with 2.

It stands best on value for money (C, above 27 of 111) and worst on free plan and trial (D, above 7).

Each grade against the category

Every bar is all 112 project management tools we grade, cut by the letter each got. Planview's own letter is outlined.

Keep it, or make your own?

Whether this is something you could build for yourself with an AI app builder, and what you would give up.

Keep it

The plain part of Planview you could make: reports. What surrounds it you could not. The 2 things listed below take a company, not a weekend.

That makes this kind of software worth paying for, not this one in particular: 106 of the 111 other project management tools grade higher.

What you could make

- Reports: an app builder makes this well.

What you could not

- Connections that pull numbers from dozens of other services.
- AI features, unless you pay a model provider for each request yourself.

What this rests on. Planview's listing: what it does, where it runs, what it plugs into and what it costs. It is a judgement about the kind of software this is. We have not built a replacement for it, and making your own means looking after it too. How we decide, and every tool's verdict.
