Welcome

What it is, who it suits, its grades and the ten things to know first

2.4

GPA, above 54 of the 122 other email apps we grade

Purelymail hosts email for custom domains over IMAP, POP3 and SMTP, with a Roundcube webmail. The default plan is a flat $10 a year with no stated cap on users, domains or storage, and a pay-as-you-go option is available for heavy use. It is built for people who bring their own domain.

To get you started, here are 9 things to know about Purelymail, taken from its own pages and our grades.

> You point your own domain at it, and the vendor says its interface isn't always intuitive.
> From our grade for ease of use

1 Best for cheap flat-fee mail for your own domains

Purelymail hosts mail for your own domains at a flat $10 a year, with no hard limits on users, domains or storage.

2 Paid plans start at $0.83 a month when paid by the year

As its pricing page puts it: $10 per year.

3 You can try it first

Trial account with a limited amount of credits; the vendor says light use may last about a month.

4 It runs on Web

Web.

5 Unlimited custom domains and users

Any number of users on any number of your own domains at no extra charge, with routing rules and catch-alls.

6 Standard mail access

IMAP with IDLE, POP3 and SMTP work with third-party apps, and Roundcube webmail is provided.

7 Filters and spam control

Sieve filters or webmail rules, with SpamAssassin spam filtering that can learn.

8 A 2.4 GPA, above 54 of 122

That is against the other email apps we grade, on value, the free plan, features, ease of use and platforms.

9 Keep it

To replace Purelymail you would be making an email client: sending, receiving, threading and searching years of mail. That is not a weekend's work, with an AI app builder or without one.

The report card

Best for cheap flat-fee mail for your own domains

Purelymail hosts mail for your own domains at a flat $10 a year, with no hard limits on users, domains or storage. Marketing mail is banned, there's no 24/7 support, and the vendor says its interface isn't always intuitive.

TOOLGPA REPORT CARD — Purelymail — Graded Nov 13, 2026

| SUBJECT | GRADE | COMMENT |
|---|---|---|
| Value for money | A | $10 a year works out under $1 a month, below 60% of the cheapest quarter of what email services charge. |
| Free plan and trial | C | A trial with a limited amount of credits that the vendor says may last about a month. The terms on a card aren't stated. |

|---|---|---|
| Features | C | Unlimited domains and users, filters, DAV calendars and contacts, 2FA. Automatic alias generation isn't supported, and mailing lists are banned. |
| Ease of use | C | No store rating on record. You point your own domain at it, and the vendor says its interface isn't always intuitive. |
| Platforms and integrations | C | A web service with webmail and standard protocols. No apps of its own and no integrations listed. |
| Grade point average | | Fair, out of 4.0 2.4 |

An A is worth 4 points, a B 3, a C 2, a D 1 and an F nothing. The GPA is the average of the five.

Who Purelymail is for

- ✓ Fits if you have a few domains and want one low flat fee for all of them
- ✓ Works for people who just want plain mailboxes

Who it is not for

- ✗ Skip it if you send marketing mail or newsletters, as the terms ban it and accounts may be removed without refund
- ✗ Tight if you send a lot, as sending is capped at about 3,000 external messages a day, and less on trials
- ✗ Watch out: there's no 24/7 support staff
- ✗ Watch out: some small mail servers may block its mail for a day or two

Good to know

Good for

- ✓ People with several domains who want many mailboxes for one low fee
- ✓ Anyone who prefers using their own mail client
- ✓ Self-hosters who want to hand off mail delivery

Worth knowing

- ⓘ Marketing mail, mailing lists, spam and domain warm-up are banned by the terms, and accounts breaking them may be removed without refund.
- ⓘ Sending is limited to roughly 3,000 external messages a day, and trial accounts have much lower sending limits.
- ⓘ The vendor says it has no 24/7 support staff and that some small mail servers may block its mail for a day or two.
- ⓘ It lists automatic alias generation as not yet supported, and says its own interface is not always intuitive.

Where it stands

Its grades against its category, and whether to keep it or make your own

54/122

Other email apps it is graded above

Purelymail's GPA of 2.4 is higher than 54 of the 122 other email apps we grade, and level with 19.

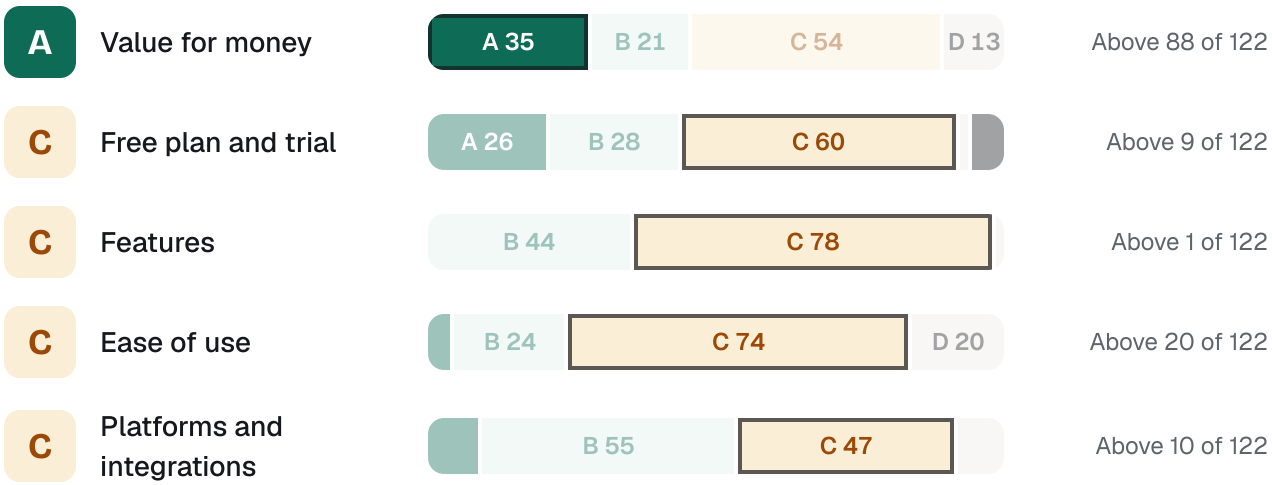

It stands best on value for money (A, above 88 of 122) and worst on features (C, above 1).

Its paid plans start at $0.83 a month when paid by the year, against a middle price of $4.92 for the category: 1 of the 76 others that charge start lower.

On features, ease of use and platforms it scores 2.0 out of 4. 12 tools score higher and cost less.

Each grade against the category

Every bar is all 123 email apps we grade, cut by the letter each got. Purelymail's own letter is outlined.

Price against what you get

Each dot is one of 107 email apps. Further left costs less; higher up scores better on features, ease of use and platforms. Purelymail is the marked dot.

What paid plans start at, a month (each step along is roughly double)

Keep it, or make your own?

Whether this is something you could build for yourself with an AI app builder, and what you would give up.

Keep it

To replace Purelymail you would be making an email client: sending, receiving, threading and searching years of mail. That is not a weekend's work, with an AI app builder or without one.

It costs $10 a year.

What you could make

- Calendar: an app builder makes this well.

What you could not

- An email client: sending, receiving, threading and searching years of mail.

What this rests on. Purelymail's listing: what it does, where it runs, what it plugs into and what it costs. It is a judgement about the kind of software this is. We have not built a replacement for it, and making your own means looking after it too. How we decide, and every tool's verdict.
