Welcome

What it is, who it suits, its grades and the ten things to know first

2.0

GPA, above 8 of the 63 other spreadsheet and database tools we grade

RowShare is a French-built online tool for collecting and sharing tabular data. Owners decide who can see or edit each row and column, set required fields and quality checks, and send automatic email reminders when a deadline passes. It offers a 14-day free trial, a Microsoft Teams app and one-hour onboarding on every plan.

To get you started, here are 9 things to know about RowShare, taken from its own pages and our grades.

> A web app where you build your own tables; no store rating on record.
>
> From our grade for ease of use

1 Best for Excel-style shared tables with row-level permissions

RowShare is a shared-table tool for teams leaving Excel, with row and column permissions and a Microsoft Teams app.

2 Paid plans start at $80 a month

As its pricing page puts it: $80 per month for 5 users.

3 You can try it first

14-day free trial, no credit card required

4 It runs on Web

Web.

5 Row and column permissions

Access can be set table by table, with basic read and write rights per row on every plan and advanced create, delete and assign rights on higher plans.

6 Data collection controls

Formats, mandatory fields and automated quality checks can be set, and reminder emails go out automatically when a deadline is hit.

7 Change log and history

A change log lists recent changes with author and timestamp. Deleted rows are kept for 7, 30 or 365 days depending on the plan.

8 A 2.0 GPA, above 8 of 63

That is against the other spreadsheet and database tools we grade, on value, the free plan, features, ease of use and platforms.

9 Keep it

To replace RowShare you would be making connections to other products, each kept working as those products change. That is not a weekend's work, with an AI app builder or without one.

Best for Excel-style shared tables with row-level permissions

RowShare is a shared-table tool for teams leaving Excel, with row and column permissions and a Microsoft Teams app. Every plan includes 5 users, so the least you pay is $80 a month, and the Team plan stops at 5,000 rows a table and leaves out the advanced permissions and change log.

TOOLGPA REPORT CARD — RowShare — Graded Nov 13, 2026

SUBJECT	GRADE	COMMENT
Value for money	D	$80 a month for 5 users is the floor, which is $16 a head for a team of five but $80 for one person, above the $65 where the dearest tenth starts.
Free plan and trial	C	A 14-day trial with no card, and no free plan after it.
Features	C	Row and column permissions, a change log and automation. On Team the advanced permissions and change log are marked as not included, and tables are capped.
Ease of use	C	A web app where you build your own tables; no store rating on record.
Platforms and integrations	B	Web with a Microsoft Teams app and links to Zapier, Power Automate, Power BI, Tableau and others. No desktop or phone apps are listed.

Grade point average — Fair, out of 4.0 2.0

An A is worth 4 points, a B 3, a C 2, a D 1 and an F nothing. The GPA is the average of the five.

Who RowShare is for

- ✓ Fits if your team lives in Microsoft Teams and needs rows visible to some people only
- ✓ Works for groups of 5 to 49 sharing one table, with read-only viewers free

Who it is not for

- ✗ Skip it if you're one person, since the plans start at 5 users and $80
- ✗ Tight if you need more than 10 tables, 5,000 rows a table or 1 GB of files, which means Pro at $120
- ✗ Not for you if you need the advanced permissions or change log on the cheapest plan
- ✗ Watch out: the pricing page was unclear on whether the monthly figures are monthly or yearly billing

Good to know

Good for

- ✓ Process owners who collect data from many people and must limit who sees what
- ✓ Teams in Microsoft Teams that want a shared table instead of a workbook
- ✓ Companies wanting hands-on onboarding and migration from Excel

Worth knowing

- ⓘ Every plan includes 5 users; the rendered pricing page was unclear on whether the monthly figures shown are monthly-billed or yearly-billed (a yearly saving of 20% is advertised).
- ⓘ Team plan caps are 10 tables, 5,000 rows per table and 1 GB of attachments.
- ⓘ Advanced row and column permissions and the change log are marked as not included on Team.
- ⓘ Runs in the browser; mobile access is mentioned, but the site lists no separate apps.

Where it stands

Its grades against its category, and whether to keep it or make your own

8/63

Other spreadsheet and database tools it is graded above

RowShare's GPA of 2.0 is higher than 8 of the 63 other spreadsheet and database tools we grade, and level with 8.

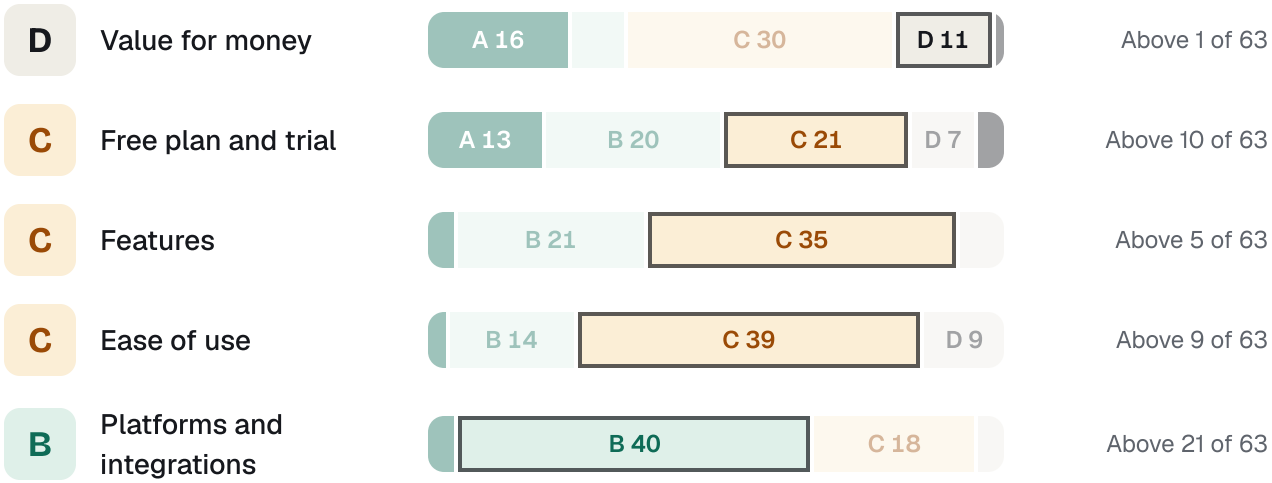

It stands best on platforms and integrations (B, above 21 of 63) and worst on value for money (D, above 1).

Its paid plans start at $80 a month, against a middle price of $12 for the category: 44 of the 47 others that charge start lower.

On features, ease of use and platforms it scores 2.3 out of 4. 26 tools score higher and cost less.

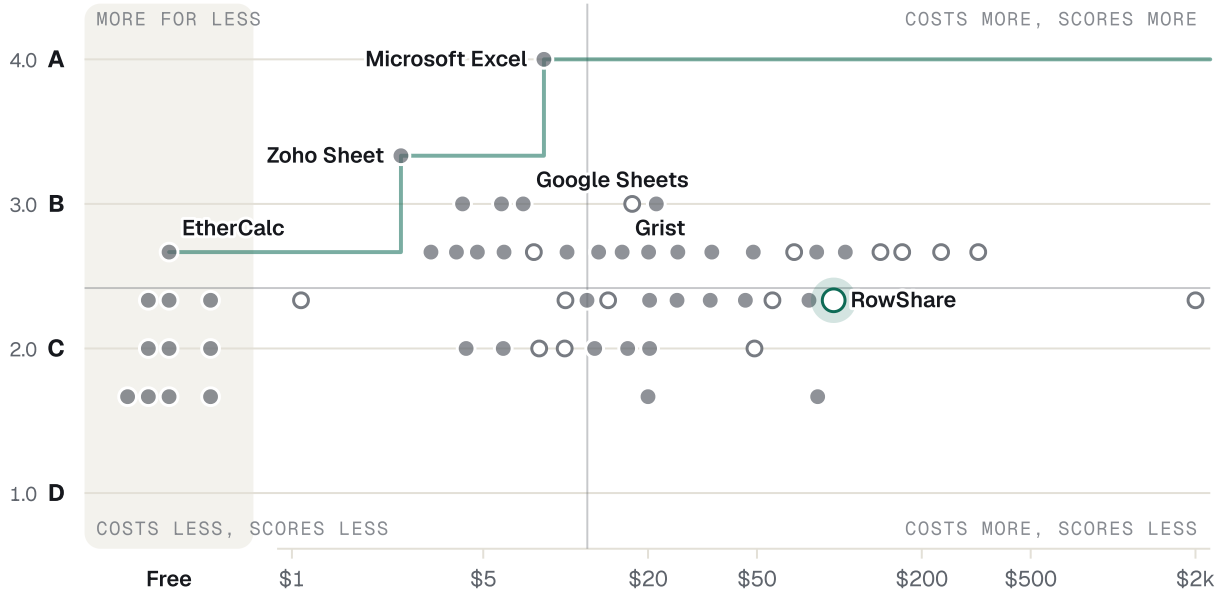

Each grade against the category

Every bar is all 64 spreadsheet and database tools we grade, cut by the letter each got. RowShare's own letter is outlined.

Price against what you get

Each dot is one of 59 spreadsheet and database tools. Further left costs less; higher up scores better on features, ease of use and platforms. RowShare is the marked dot.

What paid plans start at, a month (each step along is roughly double)

Keep it, or make your own?

Whether this is something you could build for yourself with an AI app builder, and what you would give up.

Keep it

To replace RowShare you would be making connections to other products, each kept working as those products change. That is not a weekend's work, with an AI app builder or without one.

That makes this kind of software worth paying for, not this one in particular: 47 of the 63 other spreadsheet and database tools grade higher. It costs $960 a year.

What you could make

- Templates and reports: an app builder makes these well.

What you could not

- Connections to other products, each kept working as those products change.
- Databases with views, filters and links between them.
- What a company asks for before it lets staff use something: roles and permissions.

What this rests on. RowShare's listing: what it does, where it runs, what it plugs into and what it costs. It is a judgement about the kind of software this is. We have not built a replacement for it, and making your own means looking after it too. How we decide, and every tool's verdict.
