Welcome

What it is, who it suits, its grades and the ten things to know first

2.2

GPA, above 17 of the 63 other spreadsheet and database tools we grade

Sheetson turns a Google Sheet into a REST endpoint where each header row becomes JSON keys. The sheet is shared with a Sheetson account rather than made public, and calls use a bearer token. The service proxies the Google Sheets API without storing your data. A free plan covers 1,000 rows per sheet, and the Professional plan adds filtering and a dedicated rate limit.

> From our grade for ease of use

To get you started, here are 9 things to know about Sheetson, taken from its own pages and our grades.

1 Best for a no-auth Google Sheets API with a real free plan

Sheetson gives a Google Sheet a REST API without writing Google sign-in code, and the free plan has unmetered requests with 1,000 rows per sheet.

2 Paid plans start at $9.99 a month

As its pricing page puts it: $9.99 per month, billed monthly ($99 per year billed yearly).

3 There is a free plan

Unlimited spreadsheets, 1,000 rows per sheet, unmetered requests, pagination, shared rate limit and email support.

4 It runs on Web

Web.

5 One endpoint per sheet

The sheet name goes in the path and the spreadsheet ID in a header, and rows come back as JSON objects rather than cell ranges.

6 Standard HTTP verbs

GET reads rows, POST appends them, PATCH updates and DELETE removes them, authenticated with a bearer token per sheet.

7 Private sheets

The sheet is shared with a Sheetson address as an editor, so public sharing is never required, and keys can be rotated or revoked.

8 A 2.2 GPA, above 17 of 63

That is against the other spreadsheet and database tools we grade, on value, the free plan, features, ease of use and platforms.

9 Keep it

To replace Sheetson you would be making a builder that other people can use without writing code. That is not a weekend's work, with an AI app builder or without one.

Who Sheetson is for

- ✓ Fits if you want a free API for a small Google Sheet
- ✓ Works for developers who'd rather not write Google OAuth code

Who it is not for

- ✗ Skip it if your data lives in Excel or CSV, since only Google Sheets is described
- ✗ Tight if you need more than 1,000 rows a sheet, which needs Pro
- ✗ Watch out: free requests share a server, and a dedicated 60 requests a minute needs Pro
- ✗ Watch out: Google's own API quotas still cap you, and subscriptions renew automatically

Good to know

Good for

- ✓ Developers who want sheet data without Google OAuth or client libraries
- ✓ Headless CMS setups where editors work in a Google Sheet
- ✓ Small projects that fit within 1,000 rows on the free plan

Worth knowing

- ⓘ Google Sheets only; the site describes no Excel or CSV source.
- ⓘ Free plan requests share a server and rate limit; a dedicated 60 requests per minute needs Professional.
- ⓘ Google Sheets API quotas still apply even though Sheetson does not meter requests.
- ⓘ Subscriptions renew automatically, and prices exclude tax.

PART 04 · STANDING

Where it stands

Its grades against its category, and whether to keep it or make your own

17/63

Other spreadsheet and database tools it is graded above

Sheetson's GPA of 2.2 is higher than 17 of the 63 other spreadsheet and database tools we grade, and level with 10.

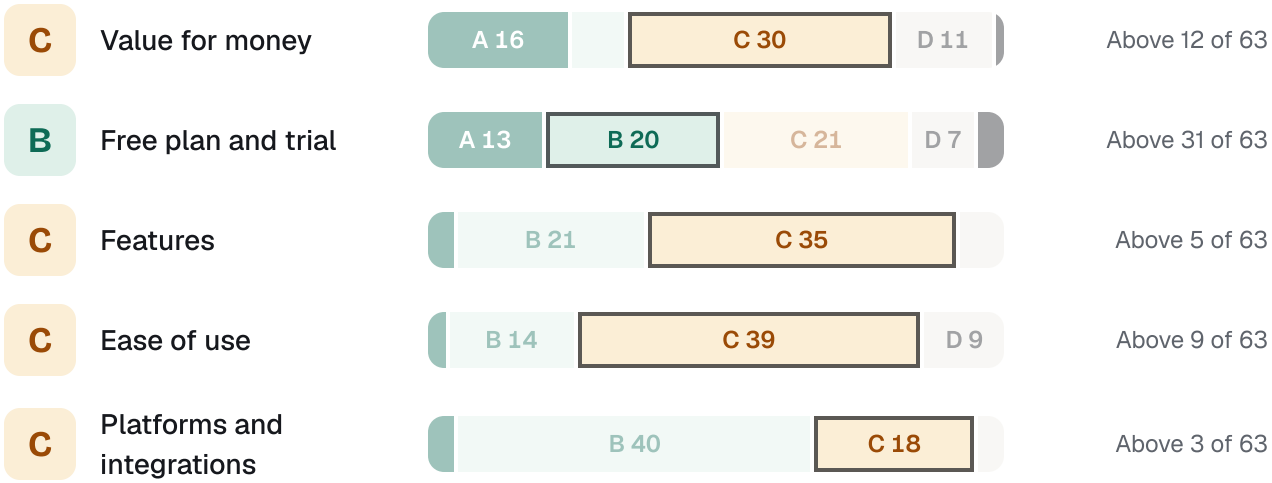

It stands best on free plan and trial (B, above 31 of 63) and worst on platforms and integrations (C, above 3).

Its paid plans start at $9.99 a month, against a middle price of $12 for the category: 17 of the 47 others that charge start lower.

On features, ease of use and platforms it scores 2.0 out of 4. 17 tools score higher and cost less.

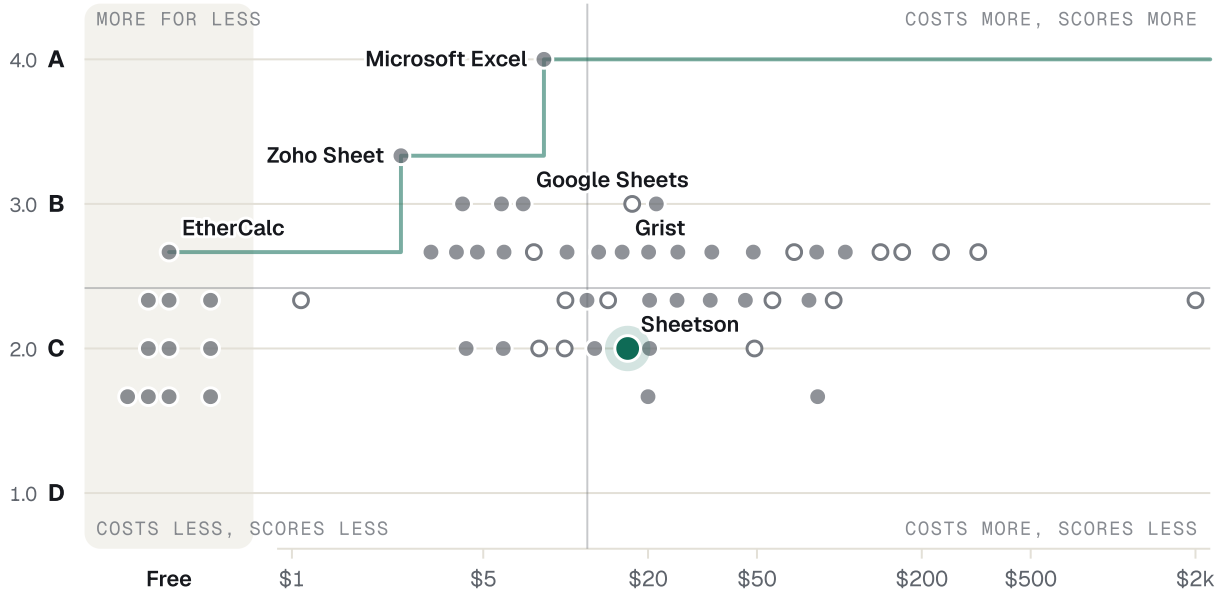

Each grade against the category

Every bar is all 64 spreadsheet and database tools we grade, cut by the letter each got. Sheetson's own letter is outlined.

Price against what you get

Each dot is one of 59 spreadsheet and database tools. Further left costs less; higher up scores better on features, ease of use and platforms. Sheetson is the marked dot.

What paid plans start at, a month (each step along is roughly double)

Keep it, or make your own?

Whether this is something you could build for yourself with an AI app builder, and what you would give up.

Keep it

To replace Sheetson you would be making a builder that other people can use without writing code. That is not a weekend's work, with an AI app builder or without one.

That makes this kind of software worth paying for, not this one in particular: 36 of the 63 other spreadsheet and database tools grade higher. It costs $119.88 a year.

What you could not

- ✕ A builder that other people can use without writing code.
- ✕ A spreadsheet engine with its formulas.

- ✕ It plugs into other products, Google Sheets among them, and has an API.
- ✕ Sharing with other people, which means accounts and invitations.

What this rests on. Sheetson's listing: what it does, where it runs, what it plugs into and what it costs. It is a judgement about the kind of software this is. We have not built a replacement for it, and making your own means looking after it too. How we decide, and every tool's verdict.
