Welcome

What it is, who it suits, its grades and the ten things to know first

2.2

GPA, above 20 of the 89 other AI meeting note takers we grade

TicNote makes pocket recorders, a watch and earbud-style pods that record meetings and calls, alongside TicNote Cloud, a web and mobile app that turns recordings into transcripts, summaries, mind maps and reports. Each device includes 600 free monthly transcription minutes, and the cloud app has a free plan and paid tiers.

To get you started, here are 9 things to know about TicNote, taken from its own pages and our grades.

> There are accounts, plans and a recorder range to work through.
>
> From our grade for ease of use

1 Best for AI voice recorders with a cloud notes app

TicNote pairs recorders with a cloud app for transcripts, summaries and reports.

2 Paid plans start at $16.58 a month

As its pricing page puts it: $16.58 per month, billed annually ($199).

3 There is a free plan

300 transcription minutes a month, web recordings up to 30 minutes, 30 document summary requests and basic templates.

4 It runs on 3 platforms

Web, iOS and Android, with a browser extension too.

5 Recorder range

Devices include a recorder at $159.99, a Lite model at $129.99, a $249 watch and Pods at $249.99 (Wi-Fi) and $299.99 (4G).

6 Transcripts and summaries

Recordings become transcripts and summaries, with live transcription, translation and mind maps; advanced templates need Professional.

7 Reports and podcasts

Deep research reports and podcast generation are listed as free for a limited time on the lower plans.

8 A 2.2 GPA, above 20 of 89

That is against the other AI meeting note takers we grade, on value, the free plan, features, ease of use and platforms.

9 Keep it

To replace TicNote you would be making a bot that joins your calls and turns the talk into notes. That is not a weekend's work, with an AI app builder or without one.

PART 04 · STANDING

Where it stands

Its grades against its category, and whether to keep it or make your own

20/89

Other AI meeting note takers it is graded above

TicNote's GPA of 2.2 is higher than 20 of the 89 other AI meeting note takers we grade, and level with 27.

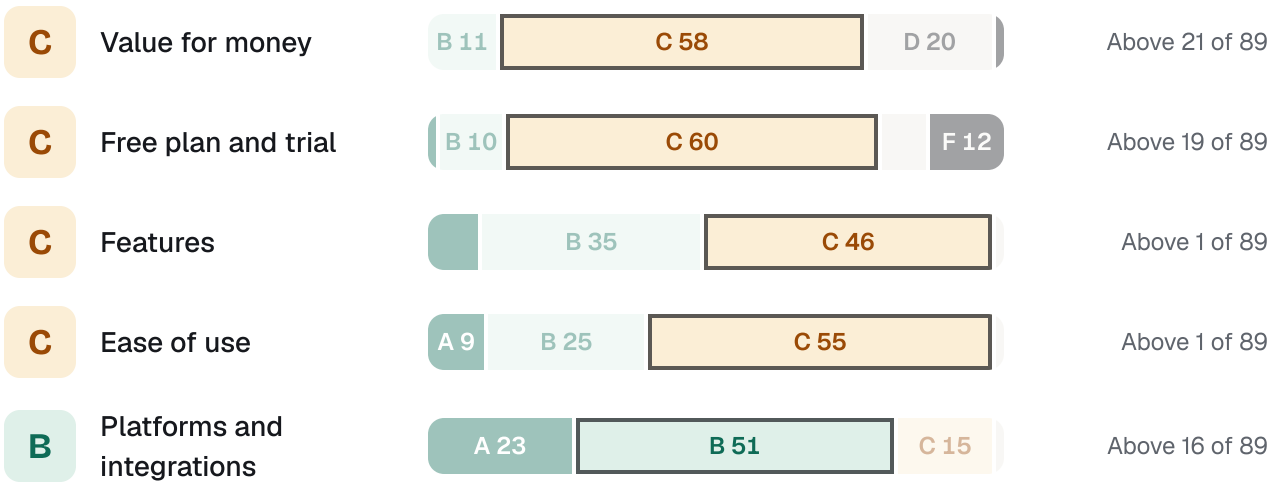

It stands best on platforms and integrations (B, above 16 of 89) and worst on features (C, above 1).

Its paid plans start at $16.58 a month, against a middle price of $12 for the category: 53 of the 76 others that charge start lower.

On features, ease of use and platforms it scores 2.3 out of 4. 35 tools score higher and cost less.

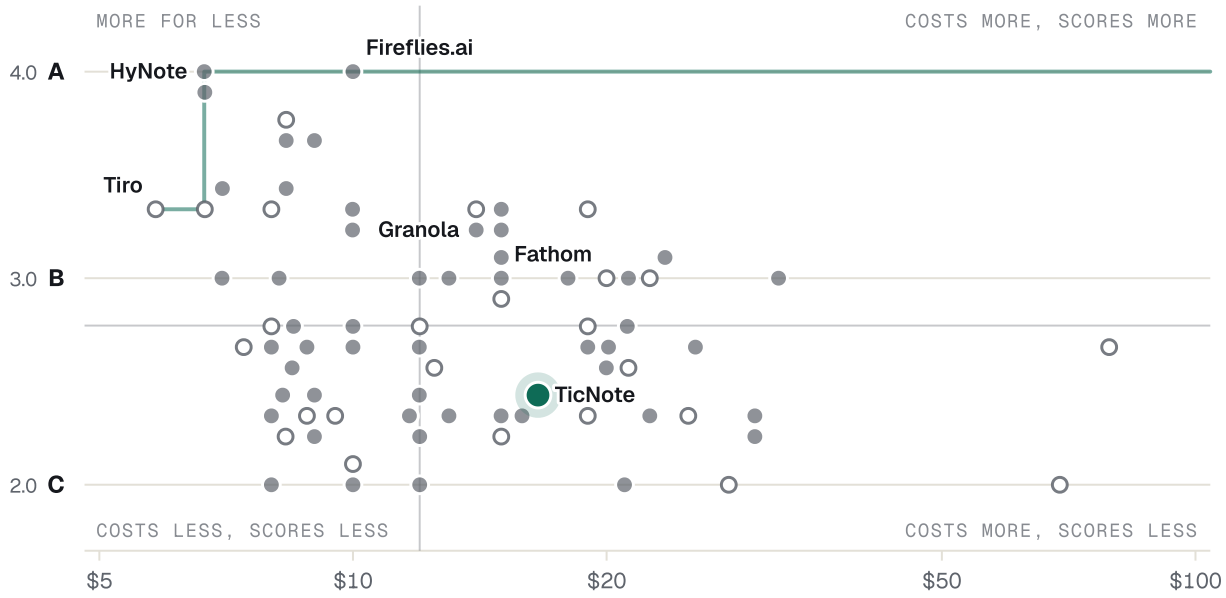

Each grade against the category

Every bar is all 90 AI meeting note takers we grade, cut by the letter each got. TicNote's own letter is outlined.

Price against what you get

Each dot is one of 77 AI meeting note takers. Further left costs less; higher up scores better on features, ease of use and platforms. TicNote is the marked dot.

What paid plans start at, a month (each step along is roughly double)

Keep it, or make your own?

Whether this is something you could build for yourself with an AI app builder, and what you would give up.

Keep it

To replace TicNote you would be making a bot that joins your calls and turns the talk into notes. That is not a weekend's work, with an AI app builder or without one.

That makes this kind of software worth paying for, not this one in particular: 42 of the 89 other AI meeting note takers grade higher. It costs $198.96 a year.

What you could not

- ✕ A bot that joins your calls and turns the talk into notes.
- ✕ An AI model, which you can rent by the request but not make.

- ✕ Speech turned into text you can trust.
- ✕ A real app for iOS and Android. Something home-made would be a web page.
- ✕ An API that other software can build on.

What this rests on. TicNote's listing: what it does, where it runs, what it plugs into and what it costs. It is a judgement about the kind of software this is. We have not built a replacement for it, and making your own means looking after it too. How we decide, and every tool's verdict.
