It stands best on free plan and trial (B, above 74 of 98) and worst on features (C, above 0).

Its paid plans start at $29.95 a month for each person, against a middle price of $6.99 for the category: 78 of the 80 others that charge start lower.

Keep it, or make your own?

Whether this is something you could build for yourself with an AI app builder, and what you would give up.

Keep it

To replace Time Clock Wizard you would be making payroll taxes worked out and filed with the government for you. That is not a weekend's work, with an AI app builder or without one.

It costs $359.40 a year.

What you could make

- Time tracking, time off, tasks and reports: an app builder makes these well.

What you could not

- Payroll taxes worked out and filed with the government for you.

- Clocking in from a phone, checked against where and when.
- A rota the whole staff sees on their phones, with swaps and alerts.
- A real app for iOS and Android. Something home-made would be a web page.
- It is priced for each person, which means accounts and billing for a team.

What this rests on. Time Clock Wizard's listing: what it does, where it runs, what it plugs into and what it costs. It is a judgement about the kind of software this is. We have not built a replacement for it, and making your own means looking after it too. How we decide, and every tool's verdict.
