Welcome

What it is, who it suits, its grades and the ten things to know first

2.2

GPA, above 23 of the 98 other time tracking apps we grade

TIMEFLIP2 is a battery-powered, Bluetooth-connected twelve-sided cube. Each side is assigned a task, and flipping the cube to a side starts tracking time for that task. Time syncs to free iOS, Android and web apps with reports, calendar connections and an API. The vendor sells the cube once, with no software subscription.

To get you started, here are 8 things to know about TimeFlip, taken from its own pages and our grades.

1 Best for tracking time by flipping a cube

TimeFlip is a 12-sided Bluetooth cube you flip to start timing a task, at $59 once with free apps.

2 What it costs

Paid plans start at $59 one-time per TIMEFLIP2 device, apps free.

3 It runs on 3 platforms

iOS, Android and Web.

4 Flip to track

The cube tracks time for whichever of its 12 sides faces up. A double tap pauses it, and a side can be set as the pause side.

5 Offline tracking

The device stores its own data and the vendor says it can run about 40 days without opening the app, then syncs over Bluetooth.

6 Tasks, billing rates and timers

Tasks get a name, icon, color, project or client tag, a billable rate and a direct or Pomodoro timer mode.

7 A 2.2 GPA, above 23 of 98

That is against the other time tracking apps we grade, on value, the free plan, features, ease of use and platforms.

8 Your call

A time tracker at its plainest is a start button, a stop button and a table of hours.

The report card

Best for tracking time by flipping a cube

TimeFlip is a 12-sided Bluetooth cube you flip to start timing a task, at $59 once with free apps. It's 12 tasks per cube, there's no free tier or trial, and the apps are phone and web only.

TOOLGPA REPORT CARD	TimeFlip	Graded Nov 13, 2026

SUBJECT	GRADE	COMMENT
Value for money	A	$59 once per cube, with free apps. That's under a year of the middle time-tracker subscription ($6.99 a month), though it's the top of the one-time prices.
Free plan and trial	F	Nothing free to try. There's a 30-day money-back guarantee, which isn't a trial.
Features	C	Does its one job fully: timing 12 tasks with billable rates, Pomodoro mode and exports. A cube covers only 12 tasks.
Ease of use	C	No store rating on record. You pair it over Bluetooth, label the sides in the app and keep batteries in it.
Platforms and integrations	B	iOS, Android and a web app, with calendar links and an open API. There's no desktop app.
Grade point average		Fair, out of 4.0 2.2

An A is worth 4 points, a B 3, a C 2, a D 1 and an F nothing. The GPA is the average of the five.

Who TimeFlip is for

- ✓ Fits if you like a physical object to switch tasks and hate starting timers
- ✓ Works for people with a handful of repeat tasks

Who it is not for

- ✕ Skip it if you juggle more than 12 tasks, as one cube holds 12
- ✕ Not for you if you want to try before buying, since only a money-back guarantee is offered
- ✕ Too light for team timesheets or invoicing, as it logs time to tasks
- ✕ Watch out: free shipping takes about 3 weeks, and it needs AA batteries every 6 months or so

Good to know

Good for

- ✓ People who forget to start software timers
- ✓ Freelancers who bill by task and want a desk device
- ✓ Teams that want to give each member a physical tracker

Worth knowing

- ⓘ It is a hardware product: one cube tracks only the 12 tasks assigned to its sides.
- ⓘ Each cube runs on AA batteries, and the vendor says quality alkaline cells last 6+ months.
- ⓘ The apps cover iOS 10+ and Android 7+, with no desktop app; the web app is for review and export.
- ⓘ Free standard shipping takes about 3 weeks; a 5-7 workday expedited option is offered at checkout.

Where it stands

Its grades against its category, and whether to keep it or make your own

23/98

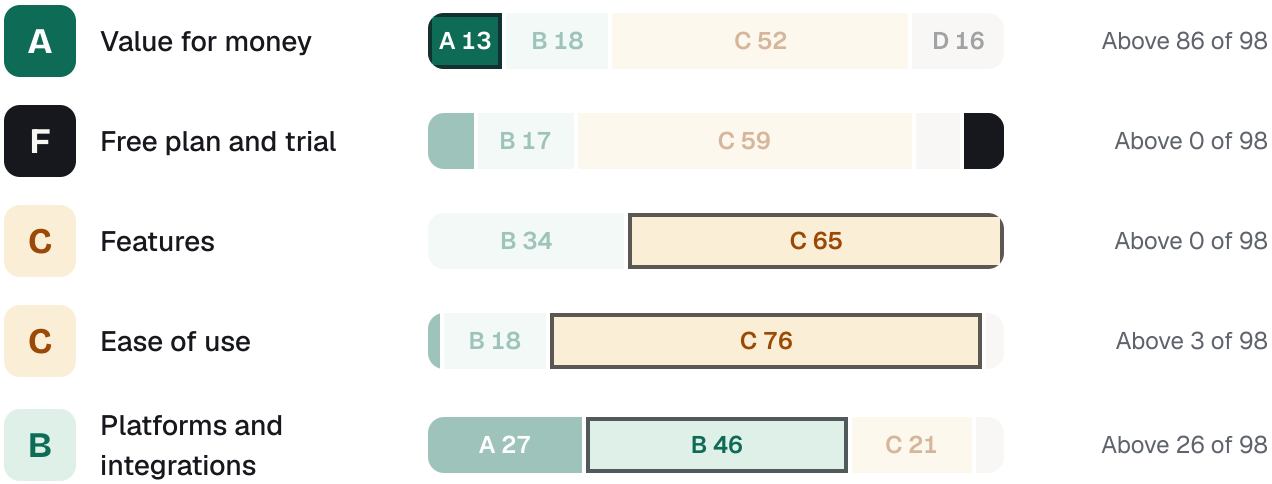

Other time tracking apps it is graded above

TimeFlip's GPA of 2.2 is higher than 23 of the 98 other time tracking apps we grade, and level with 17.

It stands best on value for money (A, above 86 of 98) and worst on free plan and trial (F, above 0).

Each grade against the category

Every bar is all 99 time tracking apps we grade, cut by the letter each got. TimeFlip's own letter is outlined.

Keep it, or make your own?

Whether this is something you could build for yourself with an AI app builder, and what you would give up.

Your call

A time tracker at its plainest is a start button, a stop button and a table of hours.

You could make the core of TimeFlip for yourself: time tracking, Pomodoro timer and calendar. What you would give up is listed below. Whether that is worth the price is your call. At $59, paid once, it costs less than the weekend it would take to replace, which is the argument for keeping it.

What you could make

- Time tracking, Pomodoro timer and calendar: an app builder makes these well.

What you could not

- A real app for iOS and Android. Something home-made would be a web page.
- It plugs into other products, Google Calendar, Apple Calendar and Outlook among them, and has an API.

What this rests on. TimeFlip's listing: what it does, where it runs, what it plugs into and what it costs. It is a judgement about the kind of software this is. We have not built a replacement for it, and making your own means looking after it too. How we decide, and every tool's verdict.
