Welcome

What it is, who it suits, its grades and the ten things to know first

1.8

GPA, above 4 of the 98 other time tracking apps we grade

TimeLog is a professional services automation tool that starts from time tracking and extends to project management, resource planning, invoicing, reporting and staff and salary administration. It is aimed at consultancies and project organizations. Plans are priced per user in euros, with an Enterprise tier sold through sales.

To get you started, here are 9 things to know about TimeLog, taken from its own pages and our grades.

1 Best for time, projects and invoicing for consultancies

TimeLog covers time, expenses, projects and invoicing for agencies and consultancies.

2 Paid plans start at about $15.64 a month for each person

As its pricing page puts it: €14 per user / month, billing basis not stated.

3 You can try it first

14-day free trial

4 It runs on Web

Web.

5 Time and expense tracking

Log time on mobile, web and desktop, register expenses with receipts, record absences and flex, and route hours through approval.

6 Project management

Gantt charts, budgets by project, task and employee, and work breakdown structures that go up to five levels on higher plans.

7 Resource planning

A resource planner with a utilization heatmap, booking by competence and availability, kept in step with project plans and logged time.

8 A 1.8 GPA, above 4 of 98

That is against the other time tracking apps we grade, on value, the free plan, features, ease of use and platforms.

9 Keep it

The plain part of TimeLog you could make: time tracking, Gantt & timelines, invoicing, expense tracking, reports and time off. What surrounds it you could not. The 3 things listed below take a company, not a weekend.

Best for time, projects and invoicing for consultancies

TimeLog covers time, expenses, projects and invoicing for agencies and consultancies. Starter is the cheapest at €14 a user, integrations only begin on Growth at €34.50, and the page does not say what billing term the euro prices assume.

TOOLGPA REPORT CARD — TimeLog — Graded Nov 12, 2026

SUBJECT	GRADE	COMMENT
Value for money	D	€14 a user a month on Starter, roughly $16 against a time-tracking middle of $6.67; Growth is €34.50. The billing basis is not stated.
Free plan and trial	D	14-day free trial, but no card detail on record, and no free plan.
Features	C	Time, expenses, projects and invoicing, but integrations and the API are not on Starter and salary administration needs Growth.
Ease of use	C	No store rating on record. Projects, rates and finance settings are built before use.
Platforms and integrations	B	Web with an API and 6 integrations on record, and no desktop or phone apps.

Grade point average — Weak, out of 4.0 1.8

An A is worth 4 points, a B 3, a C 2, a D 1 and an F nothing. The GPA is the average of the five.

Who TimeLog is for

- ✓ Fits if you run a consultancy that wants hours, projects and invoices in one place
- ✓ Makes sense if you work in euros

Who it is not for

- ✕ Pricey if you are a small team, as the cheapest plan is €14 a user
- ✕ Tight if you stay on Starter, which has no integrations or API
- ✕ Watch out: prices are in euros and the page does not say whether they assume annual billing
- ✕ Watch out: Starter support is email only, through your TimeLog contact

Good to know

Good for

- ✓ Consultancies that bill clients from tracked hours and want one system for projects and invoices
- ✓ Finance teams wanting automated invoice drafts from time data
- ✓ Organizations running several legal entities or currencies

Worth knowing

- ⓘ Prices are shown in euros per user per month, and the page does not say whether they assume annual or monthly billing.
- ⓘ Integrations and APIs are not on Starter; they begin on Growth.
- ⓘ Starter has no salary administration and only email support for the designated TimeLog responsible.

Where it stands

Its grades against its category, and whether to keep it or make your own

4/98

Other time tracking apps it is graded above

TimeLog's GPA of 1.8 is higher than 4 of the 98 other time tracking apps we grade, and level with 3.

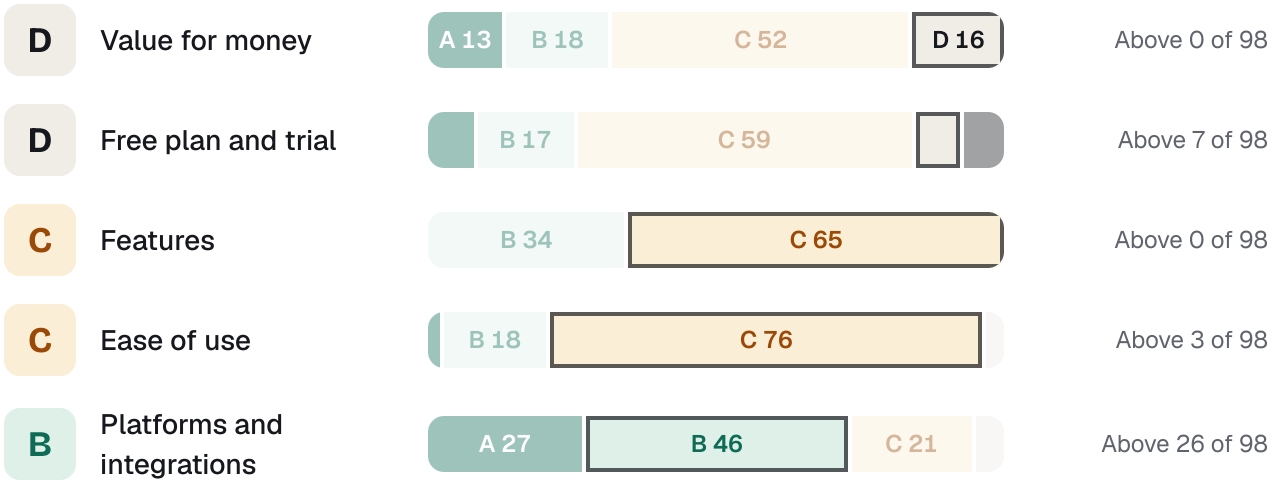

It stands best on platforms and integrations (B, above 26 of 98) and worst on value for money (D, above 0).

Its paid plans start at about $15.64 a month for each person, against a middle price of $6.99 for the category: 70 of the 80 others that charge start lower.

On features, ease of use and platforms it scores 2.3 out of 4. 38 tools score higher and cost less.

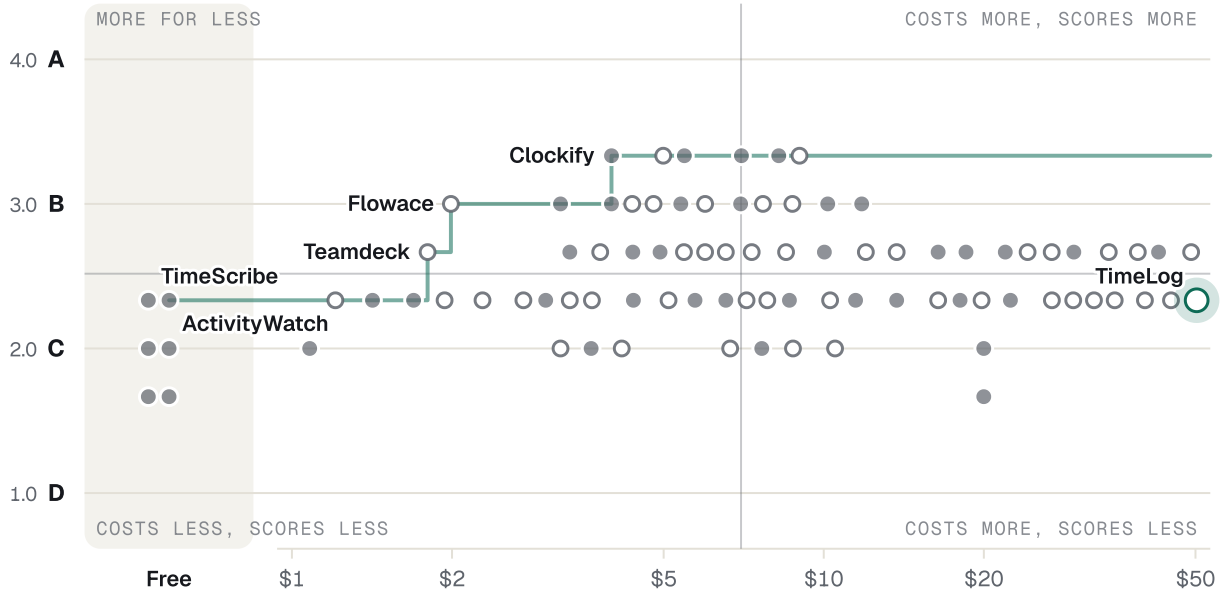

Each grade against the category

Every bar is all 99 time tracking apps we grade, cut by the letter each got. TimeLog's own letter is outlined.

Price against what you get

Each dot is one of 87 time tracking apps. Further left costs less; higher up scores better on features, ease of use and platforms. TimeLog is the marked dot.

Keep it, or make your own?

Whether this is something you could build for yourself with an AI app builder, and what you would give up.

Keep it

The plain part of TimeLog you could make: time tracking, Gantt & timelines, invoicing, expense tracking, reports and time off. What surrounds it you could not. The 3 things listed below take a company, not a weekend.

That makes this kind of software worth paying for, not this one in particular: 91 of the 98 other time tracking apps grade higher. It costs $187.69 a year.

What you could make

- Time tracking, Gantt & timelines, invoicing, expense tracking, reports and time off: an app builder makes these well.

What you could not

- It is priced for each person, which means accounts and billing for a team.
- It plugs into other products, Visma Administration, Microsoft Outlook and SharePoint among them, and has an API.
- What a company asks for before it lets staff use something: single sign-on.

What this rests on. TimeLog's listing: what it does, where it runs, what it plugs into and what it costs. It is a judgement about the kind of software this is. We have not built a replacement for it, and making your own means looking after it too. How we decide, and every tool's verdict.
