Welcome

What it is, who it suits, its grades and the ten things to know first

2.6

GPA, above 114 of the 134 other automation tools we grade

TinyTask is a small Windows program that records mouse and keyboard actions and plays them back, with no scripting. Recordings can be looped at different speeds and compiled into standalone executables. It is free for personal use and supported by donations.

To get you started, here are 8 things to know about TinyTask, taken from its own pages and our grades.

1 Best for one-click mouse and keyboard recording on Windows

That is all it does, and it is for Windows and personal use only.

2 It is free

TinyTask has no paid plan at all. Free for personal use; the author asks for voluntary donations.

3 It runs on Windows

Windows.

4 Record and replay

Press record to capture mouse movements and keystrokes, then press play to repeat them. No scripting is involved.

5 Playback speeds

Version 1.62 added custom playback speeds, and playback shows a countdown of the time remaining.

6 Compile to EXE

A recording can be compiled into a standalone executable. The FAQ says there are no royalties or restrictions on distributing compiled programs.

7 A 2.6 GPA, above 114 of 134

That is against the other automation tools we grade, on value, the free plan, features, ease of use and platforms.

8 Keep it

Best for one-click mouse and keyboard recording on Windows

TinyTask records mouse and keyboard actions and plays them back, in a 36 KB program that needs no install. That is all it does, and it is for Windows and personal use only.

TOOLGPA REPORT CARD	TinyTask	Graded Nov 13, 2026

SUBJECT	GRADE	COMMENT
Value for money	A	Free for personal use; the author asks for voluntary donations.
Free plan and trial	A	Free with no cap, though only for personal use.
Features	D	One narrow function: record and replay one fixed sequence. It has no conditions, no image search and no scheduling in the listing.
Ease of use	B	No store rating on record. It is a small portable program you open and use with nothing to set up.
Platforms and integrations	D	Windows only; no macOS, Linux or mobile version is listed.
Grade point average		Good, out of 4.0 2.6

An A is worth 4 points, a B 3, a C 2, a D 1 and an F nothing. The GPA is the average of the five.

Who TinyTask is for

- ✓ Fits if you need to repeat one fixed run of clicks and keystrokes on Windows
- ✓ Works for people who want a macro recorder with nothing to install or configure

Who it is not for

- ✗ Skip it if you need anything that reacts to what is on screen, as it only replays
- ✗ Not for you if you use a Mac or Linux, since only Windows is listed
- ✗ Watch out: it is free for personal use only and the pages describe no commercial licence
- ✗ Too light for anyone who wants documentation, as the author calls the help sparse

Good to know

Good for

- ✓ Repeating one fixed sequence of clicks and keystrokes on Windows
- ✓ People who want a free macro recorder with nothing to install or configure

Worth knowing

- ⓘ The download and FAQ pages describe a Windows program only; no macOS, Linux or mobile versions are listed.
- ⓘ Free for personal use only; the pages do not describe a commercial license.
- ⓘ Help documentation is described by the author as sparse, and updates come when time permits.

1

Place it runs: Windows

Tiny Windows macro recorder that replays mouse and keyboard actions. Here is what it does, as its own site describes it, and what it covers: workflow automation, no-code.

> One narrow function: record and replay one fixed sequence.

From our grade for features

Record and replay

Press record to capture mouse movements and keystrokes, then press play to repeat them. No scripting is involved.

Playback speeds

Version 1.62 added custom playback speeds, and playback shows a countdown of the time remaining.

Compile to EXE

A recording can be compiled into a standalone executable. The FAQ says there are no royalties or restrictions on distributing compiled programs.

Very small and portable

The download is a single 32-bit executable of about 36 KB that runs without installing. A setup installer is also offered.

Custom toolbar

Releases 1.70 to 1.73 added a larger toolbar and the option to use your own BMP images for the toolbar buttons.

114/134

Other automation tools it is graded above

TinyTask's GPA of 2.6 is higher than 114 of the 134 other automation tools we grade, and level with 8.

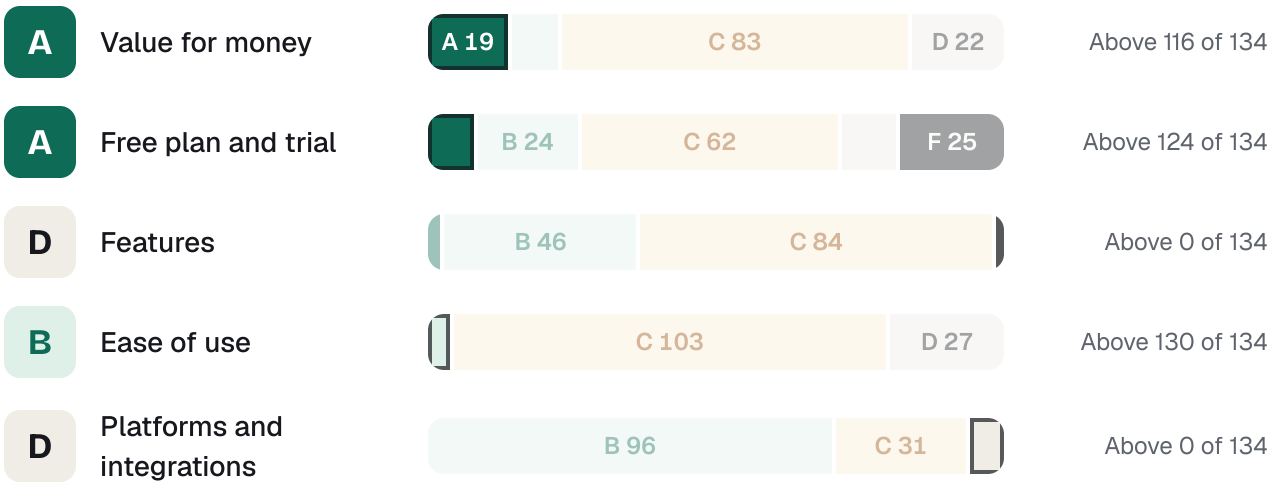

It stands best on free plan and trial (A, above 124 of 134) and worst on features (D, above 0).

TinyTask has no paid plan.

On features, ease of use and platforms it scores 1.7 out of 4. Nothing scores higher for less, though at least one tool matches that score at a lower price.

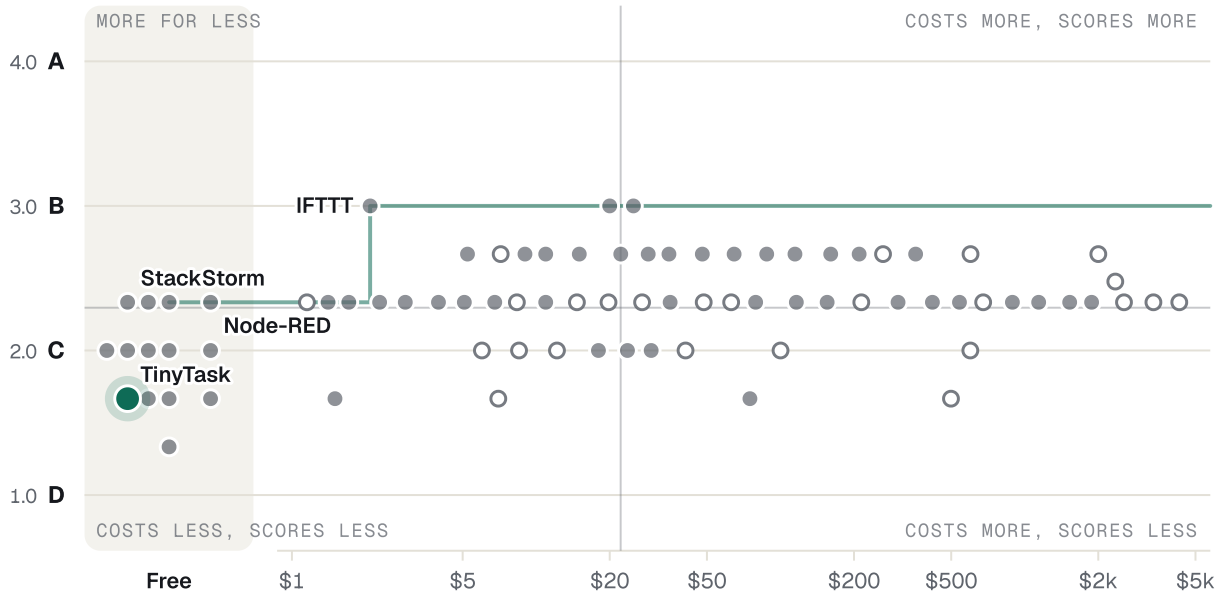

Each grade against the category

Every bar is all 135 automation tools we grade, cut by the letter each got. TinyTask's own letter is outlined.

Price against what you get

Each dot is one of 80 automation tools. Further left costs less; higher up scores better on features, ease of use and platforms. TinyTask is the marked dot.

What paid plans start at, a month (each step along is roughly double)

Keep it, or make your own?

Whether this is something you could build for yourself with an AI app builder, and what you would give up.

Keep it

TinyTask is free, so making your own would save you nothing.

And it is not the kind of software a weekend replaces. It is one of the better ones too: its GPA of 2.6 is higher than 114 of the 134 other automation tools we grade.

What you could not

- A builder that other people can use without writing code.
- Connections to other products, each kept working as those products change.
- A real app for Windows. Something home-made would be a web page.

What this rests on. TinyTask's listing: what it does, where it runs, what it plugs into and what it costs. It is a judgement about the kind of software this is. We have not built a replacement for it, and making your own means looking after it too. How we decide, and every tool's verdict.
