Welcome

What it is, who it suits, its grades and the ten things to know first

2.4

GPA, above 34 of the 55 other website and landing page builders we grade

WebWave is a drag-and-drop website builder that lets you lay out desktop, tablet and phone versions of a page separately. It can draft pages and sections with AI, and its higher plan adds an online store with no sales commission. Plans include hosting, SSL and a .com domain free for the first year, after a 14-day trial.

To get you started, here are 9 things to know about WebWave, taken from its own pages and our grades.

> The prices shown are for the first year and the renewal price is not stated, a blog needs Pro, and the store only comes with Business.
>
> From our report card of WebWave

1 Best for a small site with separate phone and desktop layouts

WebWave is a pixel-level drag-and-drop builder where the desktop, tablet and phone layouts are set separately.

2 Paid plans start at $6 a month

As its pricing page puts it: $6 per month, billed annually, first year ($9 billed monthly).

3 You can try it first

14-day free trial, no card details needed

4 It runs on Web

Web.

5 Separate layouts per device

Pages are designed on a drag-and-drop canvas, with the look of desktop, tablet and phone set separately, and custom HTML, JS and CSS can be added.

6 AI tools

AI can build a section or a whole subpage from a short description, edit elements, generate widgets and write SEO articles within a monthly limit.

7 Online store without commission

The Business plan sells physical and digital products with Stripe and PayPal payments, discount codes and stock levels, and takes no commission.

8 A 2.4 GPA, above 34 of 55

That is against the other website and landing page builders we grade, on value, the free plan, features, ease of use and platforms.

9 Keep it

To replace WebWave you would be making checkout, card payments and sales tax handled for you. That is not a weekend's work, with an AI app builder or without one.

The report card

Best for a small site with separate phone and desktop layouts

WebWave is a pixel-level drag-and-drop builder where the desktop, tablet and phone layouts are set separately. The prices shown are for the first year and the renewal price is not stated, a blog needs Pro, and the store only comes with Business.

TOOLGPA REPORT CARD — WebWave — Graded Nov 12, 2026

SUBJECT	GRADE	COMMENT
Value for money	B	$6, $7 and $9 a month billed annually are inside the cheaper quarter of $7.42, but the page shows them as first-year prices and does not say what renewal costs.
Free plan and trial	C	No free plan. A 14-day trial needs no card.
Features	C	Separate layouts per device, AI tools, SEO tools and a store with no commission. The listing's gaps keep it here: One Pager is a single page and the store needs Business.
Ease of use	C	No store rating on record. Pixel-level layout for three screen sizes means you do a lot of the building yourself.
Platforms and integrations	B	Web only, with Stripe, PayPal, Google Analytics and Google Search Console listed. No apps.

Grade point average — Fair, out of 4.0 2.4

An A is worth 4 points, a B 3, a C 2, a D 1 and an F nothing. The GPA is the average of the five.

Who WebWave is for

- ✓ Fits if you want control over how the site looks on phone, tablet and desktop
- ✓ Works for a one-page site or small store that wants no sales commission

Who it is not for

- ✗ Skip it if you want a free plan, because only a 14-day trial is listed
- ✗ Tight if you want a blog or more pages, since One Pager is a single page and those start at Pro
- ✗ Watch out: the renewal price after the first year is not stated
- ✗ Watch out: the online store is on Business only, and support runs Monday to Friday, 8:00 to 16:00
- ✗ Watch out: prices exclude VAT

Good to know

Good for

- ✓ Small businesses that want pixel-level control of each device layout
- ✓ Sellers who want a store with no sales commission
- ✓ Builders who want AI-written pages and SEO articles

Worth knowing

- ⓘ One Pager allows a single page and a 2 GB bandwidth limit; the blog and unlimited subpages start at Pro.
- ⓘ The online store is on the Business plan; the page lists no store for the other plans.
- ⓘ Prices are shown as applying to the first year of a subscription and exclude VAT; the renewal price is not stated.
- ⓘ Support is available Monday to Friday, 8:00 AM to 4:00 PM, on every plan.

PART 04 · STANDING

Where it stands

Its grades against its category, and whether to keep it or make your own

34/55

Other website and landing page builders it is graded above

WebWave's GPA of 2.4 is higher than 34 of the 55 other website and landing page builders we grade, and level with 15.

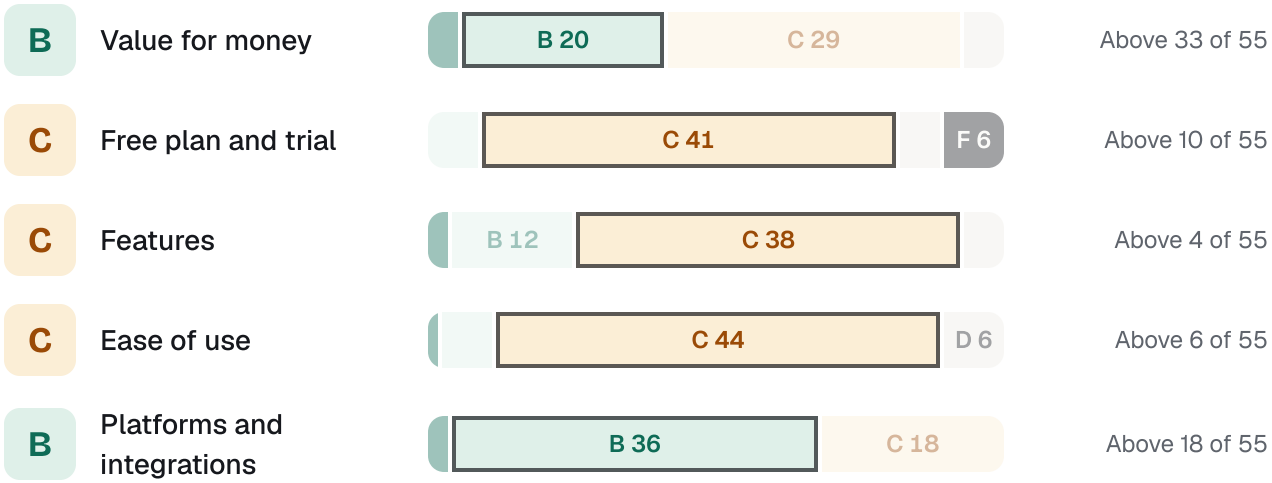

It stands best on value for money (B, above 33 of 55) and worst on features (C, above 4).

Its paid plans start at $6 a month, against a middle price of $12.42 for the category: 8 of the 52 others that charge start lower.

On features, ease of use and platforms it scores 2.3 out of 4. 1 tool scores higher and costs less.

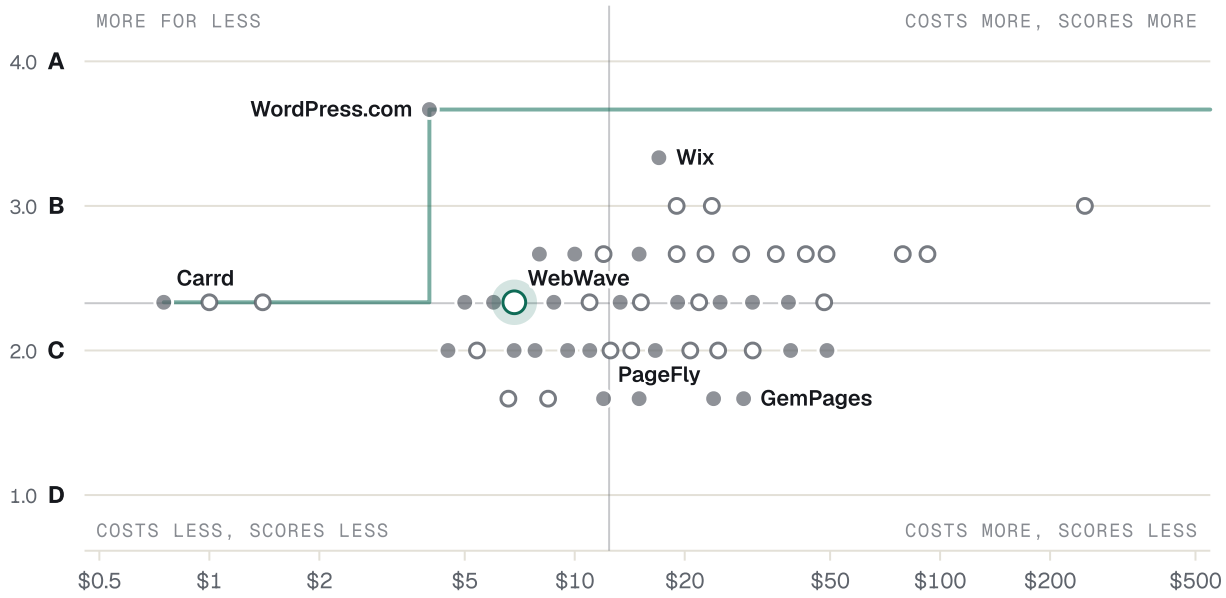

Each grade against the category

Every bar is all 56 website and landing page builders we grade, cut by the letter each got. WebWave's own letter is outlined.

Price against what you get

Each dot is one of 53 website and landing page builders. Further left costs less; higher up scores better on features, ease of use and platforms. WebWave is the marked dot.

What paid plans start at, a month (each step along is roughly double)

Keep it, or make your own?

Whether this is something you could build for yourself with an AI app builder, and what you would give up.

Keep it

To replace WebWave you would be making checkout, card payments and sales tax handled for you. That is not a weekend's work, with an AI app builder or without one.

It costs $72 a year.

What you could make

- Templates and digital downloads: an app builder makes these well.

What you could not

- Checkout, card payments and sales tax handled for you.

- ✕ A builder that other people can use without writing code.
- ✕ AI features, unless you pay a model provider for each request yourself.
- ✕ Hooks into the device itself: widgets.

What this rests on. WebWave's listing: what it does, where it runs, what it plugs into and what it costs. It is a judgement about the kind of software this is. We have not built a replacement for it, and making your own means looking after it too. How we decide, and every tool's verdict.
