Welcome

What it is, who it suits, its grades and the ten things to know first

2.0

GPA, above 4 of the 69 other time tracking apps we grade

WorkTime is employee monitoring software that measures attendance, active and idle time, app and website use and productivity. It reports on activity instead of capturing screenshots, and offers HIPAA-safe and GDPR-safe modes. A free plan covers up to 3 employees, and it runs on Windows and macOS.

To get you started, here are 9 things to know about WorkTime, taken from its own pages and our grades.

> Free keeps two weeks of history, and unlimited accesses, Active Directory and the API need Premium.
>
> From our report card of WorkTime

1 Best for attendance and activity monitoring with a small free plan

WorkTime tracks active time, apps and websites for staff, free for three people.

2 Paid plans start at $6.99 a month for each person

As its pricing page puts it: $6.99 per employee / month, billed monthly ($69.90 billed annually).

3 There is a free plan

Up to 3 employees, 2 weeks of data history, one account access and basic reports.

4 It runs on 3 platforms

Web, Windows and macOS.

5 Attendance and overtime

Sets attendance goals and watches weekend and out-of-hours work for unexpected overtime.

6 Active and idle time

Records active and idle computer time and login and logout events, with goals per team.

7 Productivity monitoring

Rates apps and websites as productive or not, with AI help, and tracks a distraction score.

8 A 2.0 GPA, above 4 of 69

That is against the other time tracking apps we grade, on value, the free plan, features, ease of use and platforms.

9 Keep it

The plain part of WorkTime you could make: time tracking and reports. What surrounds it you could not. The 4 things listed below take a company, not a weekend.

An A is worth 4 points, a B 3, a C 2, a D 1 and an F nothing. The GPA is the average of the five.

Who WorkTime is for

- ✓ Fits if you want attendance and app reports for a small team
- ✓ Works for companies that want an on-premise option

Who it is not for

- ✗ Tight if you stay on Free, with 3 employees and 2 weeks of history
- ✗ Skip it if you use Linux or phones, as agents are Windows and Mac only
- ✗ Watch out: Basic and Free allow one account access
- ✗ Watch out: HIPAA-safe and GLBA-safe modes only arrive on Enterprise at $10.99

Good to know

Good for

- ✓ Small teams that want a free plan for up to 3 people
- ✓ Organizations in regulated fields that avoid screenshots
- ✓ Managers who want attendance and overtime reports

Worth knowing

- ⓘ The free plan stops at 3 employees and 2 weeks of data history.
- ⓘ Only the Premium and Enterprise plans offer unlimited accesses, Active Directory and API integration.
- ⓘ Basic and Free allow just one access to the account.
- ⓘ Agents are listed for Windows and macOS only.

PART 04 · STANDING

Where it stands

Its grades against its category, and whether to keep it or make your own

4/69

Other time tracking apps it is graded above

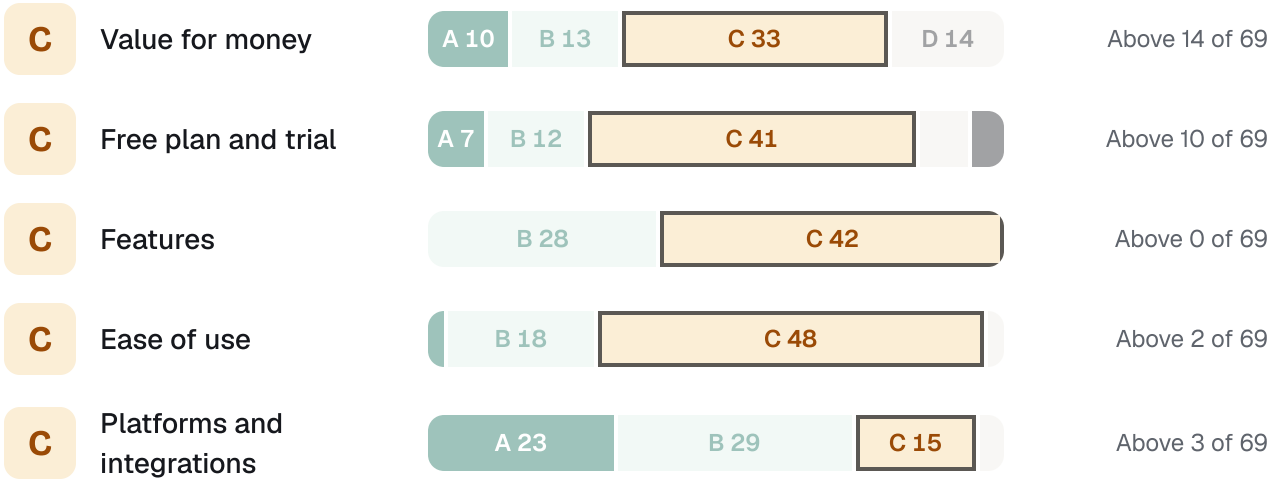

WorkTime's GPA of 2.0 is higher than 4 of the 69 other time tracking apps we grade, and level with 12.

Its paid plans start at $6.99 a month for each person, against a middle price of $6.70 for the category: 30 of the 58 others that charge start lower.

On features, ease of use and platforms it scores 2.0 out of 4. 28 tools score higher and cost less.

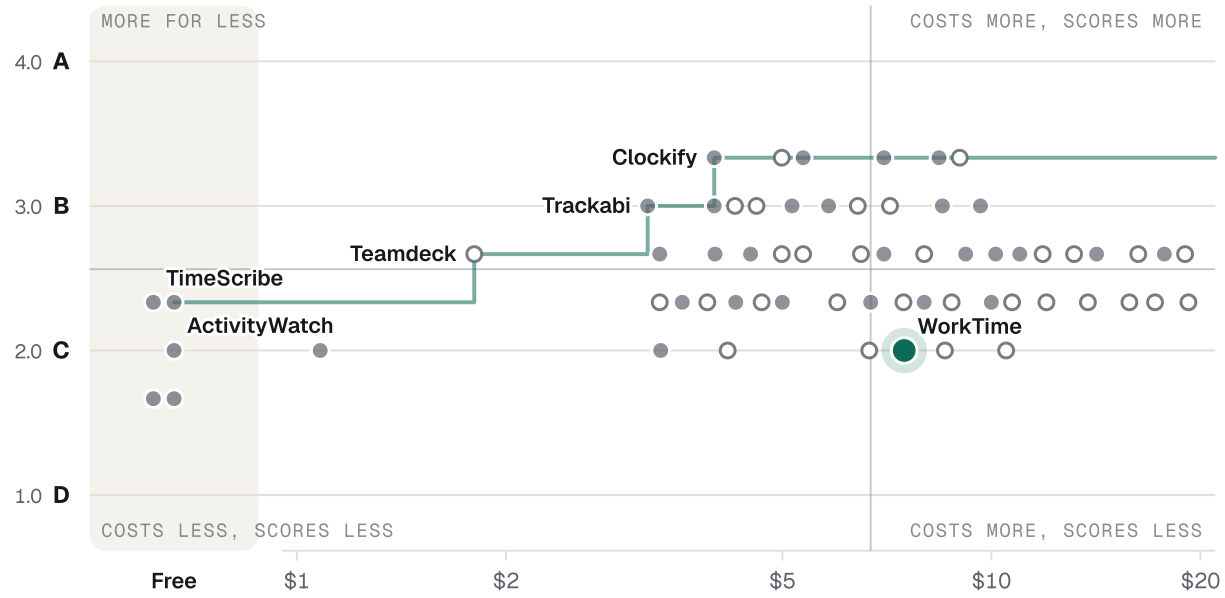

Each grade against the category

Every bar is all 70 time tracking apps we grade, cut by the letter each got. WorkTime's own letter is outlined.

Price against what you get

Each dot is one of 64 time tracking apps. Further left costs less; higher up scores better on features, ease of use and platforms. WorkTime is the marked dot.

What paid plans start at, a month (each step along is roughly double)

Keep it, or make your own?

Whether this is something you could build for yourself with an AI app builder, and what you would give up.

Keep it

The plain part of WorkTime you could make: time tracking and reports. What surrounds it you could not. The 4 things listed below take a company, not a weekend.

That makes this kind of software worth paying for, not this one in particular: 53 of the 69 other time tracking apps grade higher. It costs $83.88 a year.

What you could make

- Time tracking and reports: an app builder makes these well.

What you could not

- A real app for macOS and Windows. Something home-made would be a web page.
- It is priced for each person, which means accounts and billing for a team.
- It plugs into other products, Active Directory, Google and Microsoft among them, and has an API.
- What a company asks for before it lets staff use something: HIPAA.

What this rests on. WorkTime's listing: what it does, where it runs, what it plugs into and what it costs. It is a judgement about the kind of software this is. We have not built a replacement for it, and making your own means looking after it too. How we decide, and every tool's verdict.
