PART 04 · STANDING

Where it stands

Its grades against its category, and whether to keep it or make your own

7 /149

Other project management tools it is graded above

Yoroflow's GPA of 1.8 is higher than 7 of the 149 other project management tools we grade, and level with 6.

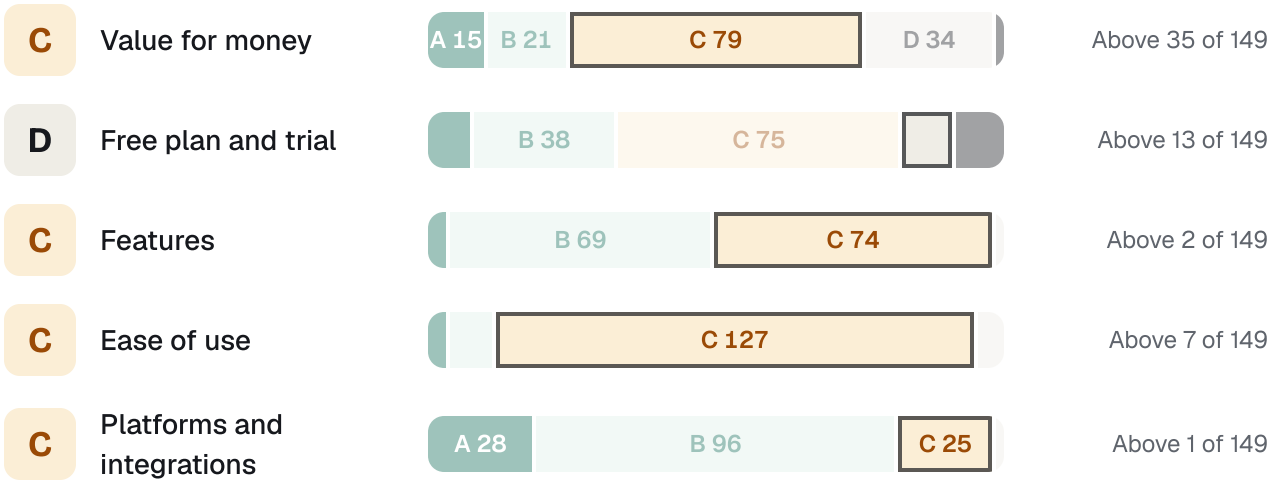

It stands best on value for money (C, above 35 of 149) and worst on free plan and trial (D, above 13).

Its paid plans start at about $25.26 a month for each person, against a middle price of $9 for the category: 101 of the 121 others that charge start lower.

On features, ease of use and platforms it scores 2.0 out of 4. 97 tools score higher and cost less.

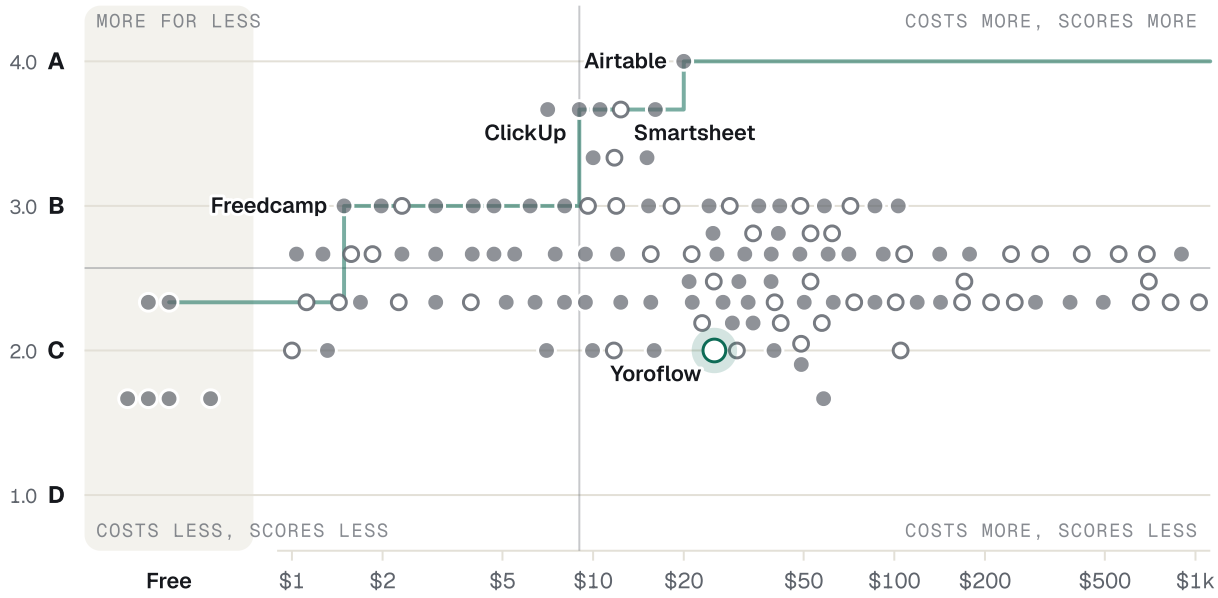

Each grade against the category

Every bar is all 150 project management tools we grade, cut by the letter each got. Yoroflow's own letter is outlined.

Price against what you get

Each dot is one of 128 project management tools. Further left costs less; higher up scores better on features, ease of use and platforms. Yoroflow is the marked dot.

What paid plans start at, a month (each step along is roughly double) ⍰

Keep it, or make your own?

Whether this is something you could build for yourself with an AI app builder, and what you would give up.

Keep it

To replace Yoroflow you would be making connections to other products, each kept working as those products change. That is not a weekend's work, with an AI app builder or without one.

That makes this kind of software worth paying for, not this one in particular: 136 of the 149 other project management tools grade higher. It costs $303.17 a year.

What you could make

- Kanban boards and Gantt & timelines: an app builder makes these well.

What you could not

- Connections to other products, each kept working as those products change.
- A tool that builds and hosts other apps.
- A builder that other people can use without writing code.
- Connections that pull numbers from dozens of other services.
- It is priced for each person, which means accounts and billing for a team.
- AI features, unless you pay a model provider for each request yourself.
- Hooks into the device itself: widgets.
- What a company asks for before it lets staff use something: roles and permissions.

What this rests on. Yoroflow's listing: what it does, where it runs, what it plugs into and what it costs. It is a judgement about the kind of software this is. We have not built a replacement for it, and making your own means looking after it too. How we decide, and every tool's verdict.
